Cairn says it has got court nod to attach 20 Indian assets in Paris

Properties said to be worth $23 million; Centre says it has not received any order

SUHASINI HAIDAR
VIKAS DHOOT
NEW DELHI
The Cairn Energy dispute with India over the settlement of a $1.2 billion award from The Hague took a dramatic turn on Thursday, with the company saying it had secured a French court order allowing it to freeze at least 20 Indian properties in central Paris.
The Government of India, however, denied all knowledge of the latest order. It said it had filed an appeal against the tribunal decision of the Permanent Court at The Hague delivered in December 2020.

Legal remedies
"Government is trying to ascertain the facts, and whenever such an order is received, appropriate legal remedies will be taken, in consultation with its coun-

- It has filed a plea in a U.S. court seeking to make Air India liable to pay up spokesperson told The Hindu that the ball was in India's court to stop the enforcement proceedings of assets.

Amicable settlement
"Our strong preference remains an agreed, amicable settlement with the Government of India to draw this matter to a close, and to that end we have submitted a detailed series of proposals to them since February this year," the spokesperson said.

"However, in the absence of such a settlement, Cairn must take all necessary legal actions to protect the interests of its international shareholders," the spokesperson added in a statement.

According to sources, the award by the Tribunal judiciaire de Paris was the "necessary preparatory step" to taking ownership of the properties and ensuring all proceeds from the sale of the properties would be accrued to Cairn Energy PLC as part of its efforts to enforce the award from The Hague in favour of Cairn.

SC backs summons to FB by Delhi govt. riots panel

Social media can influence vast sections, says order

KRISHNADAS RAJAGOPAL
NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Thursday upheld the authority of Delhi Assembly's Peace and Harmony Committee to summon Facebook India's senior official Ajit Mohan in connection with the February 2020 communal violence, saying the Capital can ill-afford another riot, and the role of Facebook "must be looked into" in this context.

"It is difficult to accept the simplistic approach adopted by Facebook - that it is merely a platform posting third-party information and has no role in generating, controlling or modulating that information," a three-judge Bench, led by Justice Sanjay Kishan Kaul, observed.

The 188-page judgment referred to how Facebook itself claimed to be the most popular social media platform in India, with 270 million registered users. Social media platforms such as Facebook have become "power centres" with the ability to influence vast sections of public opinions, the court noted. These platforms are by no means altruistic in character. They employ business models that can be highly privacy intrusive. It compared Facebook to a "mass circulation media" with no or little editorial responsibility.

"Facebook has acknowledged in their reply that they removed 22.5 million pieces of hate speech content in the second quarter of 2020 itself," Justice Kaul, who authored the judgment, observed.

Facebook cannot claim any "exceptional privilege" to abstain from appearing before the Peace and Harmony Committee. The court termed Mr. Mohan's appeal "premature", saying no coercive action was taken or intended.

Will your officers follow law, HC asks Twitter

Centre free to take action in case of breach, says court

SOIBAM ROCKY SINGH
NEW DELHI

The Delhi High Court on Thursday directed Twitter to submit in an affidavit that its "interim" resident grievance officer, chief compliance officer and nodal contact officer will be fully responsible for its conduct under the IT Rules, 2021.

Justice Rekha Palli also clarified that "no protection is granted to Twitter from any action from the government in case of any breach of the IT rules".

The direction came after the court questioned a short note submitted by Twitter detailing the appointment of its interim officers in compliance with the new Information Technology (Intermediary Guidelines and Digital Ethics Code) Rules, 2021. "Where do you say that these interim officers are going to take all the responsibility of whatever is there under the IT rules? Tomorrow, you may take the benefit of the word 'interim'," Justice Palli said.

Senior advocate Sajjan Poovayya, representing Twitter, said the officers were bound to comply with the rules. Mr. Poovayya sought two weeks to get notarised affidavits from the U.S. regarding their appointment. Additional Solicitor General Chetan Sharma highlighted Twitter's short note, where the microblogging site said it had engaged the services of the interim CCO as a contingent worker via a third party contractor.

Arunachal to allow entry only to vaccinated people

State also providing incentives to residents who are reluctant to take the jab

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
GUWAHATI

The Arunachal Pradesh government has decided to allow only vaccinated people into the State.

The government has also gone in for aggressive testing for COVID-19 and inoculation, with 68% of the people aged 18 and above having received their first dose of vaccine.

"We are ensuring that if anyone wishes to visit Arunachal Pradesh, he or she has to be vaccinated prior to entry," Chief Secretary Naresh Kumar told Union Home Secretary Ajay Kumar Bhalla during an online meeting on July 7.

Mr. Kumar said the State had adopted a three-pronged strategy to stop the spread of the coronavirus. These were extensive tracking and testing, enforcement of pandemic-appropriate behaviour and vaccination.

"Arunachal Pradesh needs an additional three lakh COVID-19 vaccines to achieve 100% coverage of beneficiaries in the 18-plus and 45-plus age groups," he said.

Vaccination as a condition for entry follows the State's bid to provide incentives to people who have been reluctant to take the jab. Officials in the Yazali circle of the State's Lower Subansiri district were one of the first to offer 20 kg of rice free to the 45-plus for taking the jab.

Cash awards

Some districts of Manipur and Meghalaya also offered cash awards to maximise vaccination coverage.

Assam, Meghalaya and Manipur linked business and salaries of employees to vaccination. While traders and commercial vehicle operators were asked to operate after vaccination or display their vaccination status for customers and passengers to decide whether or not to use their services, some frontline workers were told that their vaccination status would be ascertained before payment of salary or wage.

In Meghalaya's capital Shillong, some NGOs and a local MLA were panned for leaving out the non-vaccinated people while distributing food items to people without ration cards on July 6. The organisers of a COVID-19 relief camp in the city's Happy Valley-Madanriting had announced that rice and other essentials would be given only to vaccinated people.

SC grants bail to 13 held in U.P. jail against norms

LEGAL CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court on Thursday granted interim bail to 13 prisoners who have been languishing in Agra Central Jail for periods ranging from 14 to 22 years despite proving their juvenility at the time of commission of their crime.

A Bench of Justices Indira Banerjee and V. Ramasubramanian allowed them bail after Uttar Pradesh did not raise any objection.

The petition, filed through advocate Rishi Malhotra, highlighted the "unfortunate and sorry state of affairs" in the State, where many prisoners "continued to languish in jail" despite proving their claim of juvenility.

An accused can raise a claim of juvenility at any stage of a criminal trial or even any time after his conviction and sentence of a crime. If the claim is found true, the court should maintain the conviction, but set aside the sentence and forward the case to the Juvenile Justice Board.

A juvenile can be punished only for a maximum period of three years.

Telephone exchange racket busted in city

Main accused absconding, identified

STAFF REPORTER NEW DELHI

"We have identified the people operating the exchange. They will soon be arrested. The illegal telephone exchange converted international calls into local calls, causing revenue loss to the government," said the officer.

He said after getting tip-off regarding illegal telephone exchange operating in Central Delhi's Daryaganj, a raid was conducted along with officials of telecom department.

Fire incidents reported

Hospitals, COVID Care Centres set up during the second wave will not be dismantled immediately this time, say authorities

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI

As the number of active virus cases in the Capital dip below the 1,000 mark, the Delhi government has started to de-escalate the number of COVID-19 beds at private hospitals and at COVID Care Centres across the Capital.

Facilities at the Yamuna Sports Complex and Sardar Patel Covid Care Centre at Chhatarpur, that came up in April to tackle the second wave, have been reduced to 50 and 200 beds respectively. Four COVID Care Centres have also been closed.

The Delhi government said that with the cases declining, there are a large number of vacant beds that are required by patients suffering from non-COVID-19 ailments. Those private hospitals that were asked to reserve 80% of their bed capacity for COVID-19 patients have now been asked to reserve 30% of their total bed capacity.

However, it added that in case there is a rise in the number of COVID cases, the number of beds shall be immediately augmented. "Present available beds are sufficient to handle the active cases and COVID Care Centres can be started very soon if there is a requirement," a government spokesperson said.

The health bulletin released on Wednesday showed that out of 14,478 hospital beds available for COVID-19 patients, 13,989 were vacant and of the 3,871 beds available at COVID care centres, 10 were occupied.

More cautious approach
After the previous wave in November 2020, most of the temporary facilities set up to augment the number of beds to deal with the surge of COVID-19 cases were dismantled. This time, however, authorities are taking a more cautious approach as the threat of a third wave looms.

A source in the defence services said that hospitals set up during the second wave will not be dismantled and will be continued for sometime.

"We will hand over the hospitals set up by the DRDO to local authorities for keeping it safe without operation if the hospital is not required but we will not be dismantling them," said a defence source about the DRDO set-up hospital.

Several health professionals warn against completely dismantling augmented facilities and felt that the COVID Care Centres by the Delhi government should remain functional for a longer time as the infection spreads through periodic waves.

H.K. Mahajan, chief of anaesthesia, Indian Spinal Injuries Centre said that there was a need to wait for some more time before dismantling facilities.

"There was a shortage of beds, oxygen and medicines during the second wave. It is the right time to review the past mistakes and prepare for the future. There is a need of plenty of medicines, oxygen and beds so that the country can deal with a possible third wave successfully," Mr. Mahajan said.

Invest in infrastructure
Siddharth Rastogi, executive director, MVS Engineering Pvt. Ltd. that provides on-site oxygen generators says that the government was caught off guard in the second wave due to the rapid spread and inadequate infrastructure.

"It will be advisable to mothball the infrastructure rather than dismantle it. Now, that the second wave seems to be ebbing, we are seeing many hospitals once again putting their decision to instal an on-site generation system for oxygen on the backburner as their delivered oxygen supplies have normalised. However, hospitals should not let their guard down and continue with their plans on investing in the infrastructure for oxygen independence immediately," Mr. Rastogi said.

He added that the ongoing closing of COVID centres in Delhi and elsewhere must not be pursued in the immediate term because the virus has still not gone away. The spectre of the third and a potentially more damaging wave still hovers over us. And so, preparing for the worst, hospitals must go ahead full throttle with their plans of installation of on-site oxygen generation plants.

'Still not serious'

A.K. Jhingan, diabetologist, Delhi Diabetes Research Centre, says that the second wave may be over, however, by September-end, the third wave may hit the Capital and will be potentially as severe as the second wave according to the modelling study by the team of scientists.

"The attitude of the government is still not serious. We have witnessed chaos and very high mortality during the second wave as we were not prepared to handle it. The lessons should not be forgotten and we should be well prepared to handle such a situation if it arises," Dr. Jhingan said.

93 fresh cases and three deaths in city

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI

The Capital reported 93 new COVID-19 cases, after testing 77,979 people, in the last 24 hours in addition to three deaths, says the daily health bulletin issued by the Delhi government.

The cumulative tally stands at 14,34,873 with 14,09,018 recoveries and 25,008 deaths since the pandemic began. There are 847 active cases in the city.

A total of 22,350 people were administered the vaccine on Wednesday, taking the total number of vaccinated people to 85,20,756, as per data provided by the Delhi government's vaccination bulletin.

According to it, 11,789 beneficiaries were administered first doses while 10,561 received the second dose. The bulletin also stated that the city currently has two days' stock of vaccine with 3,16,000 doses available for inoculation.

SC rues daily tussle between Centre, Delhi govt.

Lack of maturity responsible for inability to work in tandem, says apex court

LEGAL CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI

A lack of maturity by both the Centre and the Delhi government has led to governance tussles on a daily basis between the two on every aspect, the Supreme Court said in a judgment on Thursday.

A Bench led by Justice S.K. Kaul said the "unique" inter-relationship between different political dispensations in the Centre and Delhi had worked well for years until recently.

"The last few years have seen an unfortunate tussle on every aspect with the State government seeking to exercise powers as any other Assembly and the Central government unwilling to let them do so... it is almost a daily governance tussle," Justice Kaul noted.

The court addressed the Arvind Kejriwal government in Delhi directly in its judgment, saying "the political dispensation which is in power in the State has to recognise the constitutional scheme of division of powers in Delhi which circumscribes their ability to work only within those powers. When they got elected, they knew what they were getting elected for - not what they thought should be the division of powers".

Now, turning to the Narendra Modi government in the Centre, the apex court observed that "the Central government is required to work in tandem, albeit with a different political dispensation". "Maturity is required from both sides and we have to reluctantly note the absence of such maturity in this important interrelationship," Justice Kaul wrote.

The court said the inability of the Centre and Delhi government to see eye-to-eye on governance issues in the Capital has been responsible for a spate of litigation. "Repeated judicial counsel to work in tandem has not been successful," the court noted.

Assembly panel hails SC order on FB plea

'Top court recognised privileges and power of Delhi Assembly's committees'

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI

The Delhi Assembly's Peace and Harmony Committee chairman Raghav Chadha welcomed the judgment passed by the Supreme Court refusing to quash summons to Facebook India's vice-president Ajit Mohan.

The committee was formed after the Delhi riots last year. Mr. Chadha said, "While dismissing the petition filed by the three petitioners - Ajit Mohan, VP and MD of Facebook India, Facebook India itself and Facebook Inc. - the apex court recognised the privileges and power of the Delhi Legislative Assembly's Committees on par with parliamentary privileges and those of other Legislative Assemblies.

"Significantly, the court has also reaffirmed that as part of these privileges, the Committee of Peace and Harmony is entitled to summon 'non-members' to appear before itself in order to assist it in matters of governance that lie within its remit and terms of reference," Mr. Chadha stated.

Pertinently, Mr. Chadha also stated that the court had held that since no coercive action had been taken against Mr. Mohan and the notice issued to him was to seek his assistance in examining larger social issues concerning the well-being of citizens, any representative of Facebook India must appear before the committee.

"While a full copy of the judgment is awaited, it is clear that the court has reaffirmed and acknowledged the important role of the Committee of Peace and Harmony," Mr. Chadha stated.

"The panel, like other legislative committees of the Assembly, is keen on continuing a genuine deliberative process on issues of concern in the NCT of Delhi with full participation of all concerned," he said.

'Will fight for Khori Basti residents till my last breath'

Ex-MP Udit Raj among those detained during protest

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI

Former Lok Sabha MP and Congress national spokesperson Udit Raj along with several others, mostly residents of Khori Basti in Faridabad, were detained by the Delhi police on Thursday for allegedly trying to gherao the Prime Minister's office seeking repeal of the Supreme Court order for demolition of the 170-acre colony on forest land.

Those detained were let off later in the evening.

The Khori Basti residents had earlier demonstrated at Jantar Mantar on June 29 and also marched towards the PMO's office two days ago.

Addressing the protesters, Dr. Raj said his "arrest was the beginning of the war against the dictator Modi government". He said that this was a war between the rich and the poor. "I will fight the battle of Khori Basti till my last breath," said Dr. Raj, national chairman, All India Confederation of Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes organisations.

Leaders yet to respond

Confederation's leader Sanjay Raj, who was also detained, said they had been seeking an appointment with Prime Minister Narendra Modi for several days, but there was no response. "Neither Haryana Chief Minister Manohar Lal nor Mr. Modi have heard the complaints of thousands of innocent villagers. The residents of Khori Basti have been requesting the PM to cancel the order of the Supreme Court so that the lives of lakhs of people and their houses can be saved in these times of pandemic," said Mr. Raj.

Social activist Meenu Verma said it was inhumane to render thousands of children homeless when the danger of a possible third COVID-19 wave of was looming large. "If the houses of these people are illegal then why were votes taken from them by making false promises," asked Ms. Verma.

Meanwhile, Faridabad district administration has offered free-of-cost transportation service to the Khori Basti residents ahead of a massive demolition drive expected to be kicked off in the next few days.

BKU to start stir against U.P. govt. from August 1

‘Why was Tomar spared in reshuffle?’

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
GHAZIABAD

As the countdown to the Uttar Pradesh Assembly elections has begun, the Bhartiya Kisan Union has decided to broaden the base of its ongoing stir against the Central farm laws at the Ghazi-pur border to raise farmers’ issues with the State government.

It asked the Centre why Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar was spared in the Cabinet reshuffle.

At a press conference on Thursday, BKU national spokesperson Rakesh Tikait said the organisation would start a comprehensive movement against the State government from August 1. “Apart from the farm laws, we will also sensitise farmers on the increasing electricity rates and the pending sugarcane dues. In Haryana, the BJP government is selling electricity to farmers at ₹35 per horsepower, while in U.P. it is being sold at ₹175 per horsepower. Besides ₹8,500 crores in dues to the sugarcane farmers are still pending,” said Mr. Tikait.

He said at a time when the MSP of wheat was ₹1,975 per quintal, the government collection centres were paying only ₹1,400 to farmers. “Now the same thing will happen with the paddy crop. That’s why we are demanding a law on MSP, but the deaf and dumb government is not responding,” he said.

BKU general secretary Yudhvir Singh said that the organisation would lead the movement against the State government.

Haryana farmers take part in protest against fuel price hike

They came out in large numbers in around a dozen districts in the State

ASHOK KUMAR
GURUGRAM

Farmers, including women, came out in large numbers in around a dozen districts across Haryana to protest against hike in fuel prices, in response to a call by Samyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM), a coalition of hundreds of farmers’ unions spearheading the agitation against the three farm laws.

Inderjit Singh, vice-president of All-India Kisan Sabha, Haryana, claimed that protests were held at 60-odd points across the State with the participation of non-farming people, besides the farmers. He said the reports of protests were received from several districts, including Sirsa, Fatehabad, Bhiwani, AIDWA’s Jagmati Sangwan (right) protesting in Rohtak.

Hisar, Jind, Kaithal, Rohtak, Panipat, Kurukshetra and Yamunanagar among others. Farmers parked their vehicles in rows for two hours in front of administrative offices all over the State and also honked horns for eight minutes as a symbol of resentment against the drastic fuel hike which has impacted all sections, said Mr. Singh. He said that the prices had been unjustifiably increased more than 55 times since January this year though the prices of crude oil in the international market had remained low.

Jogender Nam, president, BKU (Ghasi Rain), Haryana, speaking to protesters at Tohana said the diesel price hike had enhanced the cost of production and added to the woes of farmers. Suresh Kumar, Centre of Indian Trade Unions leader, led the workers in the protest at Landhari toll plaza in Hisar. He said that workers too were hard pressed and losing their livelihood and would join hands with farmers now.

Jai Kisan Andolan, said the protests had demonstrated that the SKM was now taking a lead in articulating the demands of the entire society and not just the farmers.

‘Women also affected’

Leading a protest in Rohtak, Jagmati Sangwan, national vice-president, All-India Democratic Women’s Association, said that women were also impacted due to the rise in prices and had come out in large numbers to register their protest.

Addressing the farmers at Kitlana toll plaza protest site in Charkhi Dabri, farmer leader Raju Maan accused Prime Minister of formulating policies to benefit his industrialist friends.

Protest against fintech park in Jaipur

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
JAIPUR

An ambitious plan of the Rajasthan State Industrial Development and Investment Corporation (RIICO) to develop a fintech park near Sanganer Airport in Jaipur has met with a strong protest by the city’s residents.

The concerned citizens have said the project will destroy a forest cover in the area and scare away the birds living there.

The fintech park, for which a provision has been made in this year’s State budget, is proposed to be developed in a 4.08-lakh sq. metre area in the vicinity of the airport for attracting information technology and financial firms.

Jaipur court gives direction to get Shekhawat’s voice sample

Purported conversations about toppling Rajasthan govt.

JAIPUR

A magistrate’s court here has issued directions for getting voice samples of Union Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat and an alleged middleman, Sanjay Jain, in connection with the audio tapes leaked last year, which contained purported conversations about toppling the Rajasthan government through horse-trading.

The court of Chief Metropolitan Magistrate gave the direction on Wednesday on an application moved by the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB). The court granted the permission and ordered that the magistrate of the Rent Control Tribunal, authorised for the purpose, would conduct further proceedings for collecting the voice samples.

Congress party’s chief whip Mahesh Joshi had lodged a complaint with the Special Operations Group (SOG) of Rajasthan police in July last year, after which a first information report about the attempts to pull down the government was registered. However, the FIR did not mention that “Gajendra Singh” referred to in the clips was Union Minister Mr. Shekhawat.

Case transferred

The SOG closed the case after dropping the sedition charges and transferred the matter to the ACB, a few days before a special session of the State Assembly was convened, in which the Ashok Gehlot-led Congress government won a confidence vote. The trust vote brought down the curtains on a month-long uncertainty created by the rebellion of former Deputy Chief Minister Sachin Pilot and 18 other MLAs.

Bengal teachers unhappy with UGC’s ‘new version of history’

They claim the syllabus is focusing excessively on ‘Hindu and Hindi’

BISHWANATH GHOSH
KOLKATA

The University Grants Commission’s new curriculum framework for history in undergraduate classes has come under criticism from teachers in West Bengal for being excessively “Hindu and Hindi”.

“The emphasis is on what is known as the Indic culture, which is their way of saying that India is home to Hinduism, Buddhism and Jainism and therefore implying – though not saying so in as many words – that Islam is alien,” Prof. Kingshuk Chatterjee, who teaches history in the University of Calcutta, told The Hindu.

No mention of Akbar

The proposed syllabus, to the surprise and amusement of many teachers, makes no mention of Emperor Akbar and largely depicts Mughals as people resisted by the Rajputs and the Marathas. It uses the term “Indus Saraswati Civilisation”, in place of Indus Valley Civilisation; emphasises on the Vedas and seeks to educate students on, among other things, “Indian perception of Dharma and Darshan” and “Science and Technology in Ancient India”. The module on the ‘Glory of Indian Literature’, they pointed out, makes no mention of the Arthashastra or Charaka Samhita while the module on the ‘History of Communication in India’ recommends the examples of “Narada, Krishna, Buddha, Shankar, Vivekananda and Gandhi”.

SO<sub>2</sub>: Sulphur Dioxide. Short-term exposure can harm the respiratory system, making breathing difficult. It can affect visibility by reacting with other air particles to form haze and stain culturally important objects such as statues and monuments.

NO<sub>2</sub>: Nitrogen Dioxide. Aggravates respiratory illness, causes haze to form by reacting with other air particles, causes acid rain, pollutes coastal waters.

CO: Carbon monoxide. High concentration in air reduces oxygen supply to critical organs like the heart and brain. At very high levels, it can cause dizziness, confusion, unconsciousness and even death.

PM2.5 & PM10: Particulate matter pollution can cause irritation of the eyes, nose and throat, coughing, chest tightness and shortness of breath, reduced lung function, irregular heartbeat, asthma attacks, heart attacks and premature death in people with heart or lung disease

“[The Hindi books] would be completely useless in non-Hindi-speaking States. And many of these are hardly of any calibre and cater to a particular political line of argument,” said Prof. Chatterjee.

‘More into mythology’

Prof. Ashis Das, who teaches history at Rabindra Bharati University, agreed. “You may or may not agree with Irfan Habib’s approach to history, or you may want to include another point of view, but the authors of these Hindi books are not even historians – they are more into mythology.”

Assam Cabinet approves cattle protection Bill

GUWAHATI

The Assam Cabinet has approved a Bill for protecting cattle, the State’s Parliamentary Affairs Minister Pijush Hazarika said on Thursday.

The Assam Cattle Preservation Bill, 2021, will be placed before the State Assembly in the upcoming session. It seeks to replace the existing The Assam Cattle Preservation Act, 1950, that allows the slaughter of cattle above 14 years of age with proper approval by local veterinary officers.

“Our government had made a commitment on bringing a cow protection Bill. The Cabinet has accordingly approved the introduction of the Bill in the Assembly,” Mr Hazarika said.

Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma had said in June that the proposed legislation would ban the movement of cattle to and from the State, primarily to check smuggling to Bangladesh. He had also told the Assembly that beef should not be consumed in areas where Hindus live.

New phase

Cabinet shuffle aims to improve governance while keeping in mind political considerations

The reconstitution of the Union Council of Ministers on Wednesday was guided by both political and administrative considerations. As many as 36 new faces were inducted and 12 dropped from the council, which now has 78 members, just three shy of the upper limit of 81. In 2014, the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) began its rule advertising its 45-member Council of Ministers as an attempt at minimum government, but the restraint was quietly abandoned in the following years. The political aspirations of communities and regions are difficult to satiate in a country as vast and diverse as India. Prime Minister Narendra Modi has made an attempt to make his Council more diverse and representative, in a manner that fits his political priorities. The new composition of the Council is in step with the BJP's relentless efforts to rope in OBC groups, Dalits and tribes people under its Hindutva umbrella politics. This accommodation is crucial for the BJP to continue its dominance in Uttar Pradesh, Bihar and other Hindi-speaking regions, where caste tensions are simmering. New inductions and elevations also signal a continued effort by the BJP to expand its influence to new areas such as West Bengal and the northeastern States. Barring the continuing under-representation of Muslims, the council is impressively representative of Indian diversity.

Governance issues might have been a factor in the axing of some of the Ministers. Harsh Vardhan, Ravi Shankar Prasad and Prakash Javadekar were among those who got the marching orders, apparently for mishandling the pandemic, relations with global IT giants and governmental communication, respectively. New inductees such as Ashwini Vaishnaw and Jyotiraditya Scindia have administrative skills that could prove valuable in crucial ministries that they now head. Individual talent and accountability both can only be contextual, and in a highly centralised system they become immaterial. The Ministers must be empowered to plan and take decisions in their respective areas. The notion of collective responsibility of the cabinet must be infused with meaning. Discussions in the cabinet must be open. Proposals that come for the cabinet's consideration must go through rigorous technical vetting and wide political consultations. The recomposition was intended to enhance governance, rev up the economy and fuel the BJP's political march ahead of crucial State elections and the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. All these would be possible only if all hands are on the deck. Assembling a team is indeed a crucial task of a captain; allowing them to flourish as individuals while playing as a team is equally critical.

A blip

This year's restrictions by States have inflicted less economic costs than the 2020 lockdown

Entering its fifth year, India's Goods and Services Tax (GST) system reported a blip in revenue collections for June, breaking an eight-month streak of over ₹1-lakh crore in tax receipts. GST revenues tanked to a tad less than ₹93,000 crore last month – the lowest in 10 months – after a record ₹1.41-lakh crore in April and a relatively tepid ₹1.02-lakh crore in May. Generally, the June revenue reflects transactions that occurred in May. With the second wave of the pandemic in full flourish and States enforcing rigorous restrictions on most activities in May, the numbers are not really surprising. However, as May GST compliance dates for smaller taxpayers were extended till early July, some of this revenue also reflects April's sales. Thus, the actual GST income attributable to May's economic activity would be lower than June's gross GST kitty. This is also reflected in the generation of e-way bills, which fell by a sharp 30% in May compared to April, while the sequential decline in revenues was not as steep. With caseloads declining over June and restrictions being pulled back gradually, revenues should pick up next month with 5.5 crore e-way bills generated in June from 3.99 crore in May. Despite the slowdown in May-June, GST collections in the Q1 of 2021-22 have been healthier than pre-pandemic levels, confirming that this year's restrictions driven by States have inflicted less economic costs than the national lockdown at a few hours' notice, in 2020.

While the second wave setbacks have shaken up business and consumer sentiment, average monthly revenues of over ₹1-lakh crore – which Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman has termed the 'new normal' for GST – could perhaps sustain through the year, if there is no dramatic resurgence of the pandemic and vaccinations are ramped up as promised. This should give some fiscal breathing room for the Centre and States, but neither can afford to sit back. Structural corrections in the GST regime and the inclusion of petroleum and electricity may take longer, but there is enough that needs immediate attention. Industry has sought temporary rate cuts on some sectors to spur demand. It is plausible that a volume pick-up could make up for resultant revenue losses, just as an uptick in petrol consumption creates room for a revenue-neutral duty cut on fuels. The GST Council must be reconvened soon to take up such ideas to prod the economy's rebound, apart from holding the promised special session to discuss all the brewing concerns related to States' compensation. Delaying this will not only foster greater misgivings between the Centre and the States but also make it tough for States to plan their borrowings for the rest of the year. Clarity is also needed urgently on when the ₹1.58-lakh crore of back-to-back borrowings for States in lieu of compensation dues will begin. If the Centre plans to raise ₹5,000 crore a week, like it did last year, it will take roughly 32 weeks to complete such borrowings; so, any delay beyond early August may not be viable.

Troubling prospects in Afghanistan

As the reality of the U.S. withdrawal takes hold, the future will depend on Taliban-Kabul dynamics and Pakistan's role

RAKESH SOOD

Last week, on Friday, the United States handed over the Bagram airbase to the Afghan authorities, marking a symbolic end to its military presence, as U.S. forces complete their withdrawal well ahead of the September 11 deadline, announced by American President Joe Biden on April 14. A familiar air of uncertainty surrounds Kabul as the Afghans ponder over the future of their land, ravaged by conflict for nearly 50 years. Afghanistan's immediate neighbours are now faced with a new challenge – how to persuade the Taliban against overplaying their military hand?

A costly misadventure

Could anyone have predicted when the U.S. commenced its military intervention in Afghanistan in October 2001 that it would get embroiled in an endless war for 20 years and to exit safely, it would have to negotiate with the Taliban, the same entity that it went in to punish?

It has been a costly lesson. The war effort has cost $980 billion, over 2,400 U.S. soldiers (plus 1,144 allied troops) and 388 private military contractors have lost their lives. It also spent $143 billion on reconstruction; about $90 billion went for the Afghan army, police and other security forces, $36 billion for governance and economic development activities (the rest of the international community contributed an equivalent amount) and the balance on counter-narcotics and humanitarian relief works (<https://bit.ly/3ADTC77>).

Yet, the real price has been paid by the Afghans. The 20-year war has claimed the lives of nearly 50,000 Afghan civilians and nearly 70,000 Afghan security forces (a majority during the last seven years); add to it another 60,000 Afghan Taliban, and the scale of the Afghan human loss becomes evident.

There have been gains too. In 2001, there were 9,00,000 boys in school. Today, eight million children attend school and a third are girls. Literacy is up from 12% in 2002 to 35%; life expectancy from 40 to 63 years. Urbanisation is 26% and 70% of the population watch TV. From 320 miles of paved roads in 2002, today, tarred roads cover 10,000 miles. Infant mortality rates are down from 20% by over half. With a median age of 18.5 years, a majority of Afghans have grown up in a post-Taliban era. Today, they bear the brunt of 130 daily Taliban/IS Khorasan (IS-K) attacks, the highest since the U.S. ended combat operations in end-2014. Tomorrow, even these limited gains are at risk.

Taliban gains legitimacy

For U.S. President Bush, the objective was "to build a stable, strong, effectively governed Afghanistan that won't degenerate into chaos". As the U.S. shifted from counter-terrorism to counter-insurgency, shades of Vietnam began to emerge. To Hamid Karzai's credit, he saw the writing on the wall when he protested about the night-raids and warned the Americans "to either take the fight to the safe havens and sanctuaries across the Durand Line or make peace with the Taliban" but it only soured his relations with the U.S.

Eventually, U.S. President Barack Obama diluted the objective to "preventing Afghanistan from becoming a safe haven for global terrorism". He oversaw a successful operation to eliminate Osama bin Laden in 2011, implemented an unsuccessful military surge concluding with an end to combat operations in end-2014 and Taliban opened the Doha office in 2013.

U.S. President Donald Trump saw himself as a deal-maker and in 2018, initiated direct negotiations with the Taliban. Ambassador Zalmay Khalilzad (U.S. Special Representative for Afghanistan Reconciliation) began by setting out four elements – a ceasefire, cutting ties with al Qaeda and other terrorist groups, intra-Afghan peace talks, and a withdrawal of all foreign military forces, declaring that "nothing is agreed till everything is agreed". Within months, the Taliban had whittled down the U.S. demands till it got what it wanted – a withdrawal timeline not linked to the other factors. In addition, the Taliban managed to get the U.S. to push the Kabul government to release over 5,000 Taliban cadres in custody. In short, the U.S. ended up legitimising the Taliban at the expense of the government in Kabul that they had worked to create and support.

U.S. President Joe Biden was no stranger to the Afghan dossier. He was convinced that the U.S. had to exit from its quagmire of "forever wars". The U.S. may have decided that it had no military options but the Taliban are still pushing ahead militarily.

From less than a fifth, today, over a third of Afghanistan's over 400 districts are under Taliban control. The day after the exit from Bagram, 13 districts, in Badkshsh, Takhar, Paktia and Kandahar fell to the Taliban, adding to the 50 that have fallen since May. In many cases, the locals manning the security posts and checkpoints have just surrendered. From villages and towns, there is already a move towards the cities. Intra-Afghan talks in Doha have been in limbo for months.

Questions about the future

Gen. Austin S. Miller, the U.S. commander in Afghanistan, indicated in a recent press conference, "Civil war is certainly a path that can be visualised if it continues on this trajectory." Dr. Abdullah Abdullah, Chairman of the High Council for National Reconciliation, warned on June 30, "The truth is, today the survival, security and unity of Afghanistan is in danger..."

Ironically, the most vocal critics of the U.S. overstaying in Afghanistan and hinting that the U.S. would never leave are the ones now blaming the U.S. for a hasty and irresponsible withdrawal.

In coming months, as uncertainties mount, there will be increasing Taliban presence in the countryside as the Kabul government concentrates on ensuring security in urban areas and of the road networks. The Taliban military strategy has been to target districts that enable them to surround provincial capitals. The clutch in the northeast including Badkshsh, Takhar, Kunduz and Baghlan enable them to control the Afghanistan-Tajikistan border and the Wakhan corridor that links to China. In the east, they exert control in Ghazni, Zabul and Paktia while the Haqqani network is active in Khost and Paktika, and the IS-K in Nangarhar, Kunar and Laghman. Further south, the Taliban control large parts of Kandahar, Helmand and Farah (bordering Iran).

As the reality of the U.S. withdrawal takes hold, how events unfold by end-2021 depends on three factors. First, have the Taliban changed their ideological colours? The U.S. in recent years, and Pakistan for much longer, have been pushing this line but the Taliban leadership have given no clues about it. Related to this is the question of Taliban unity. Distances have grown between the Quetta shura, the Doha negotiators and the fighters who want to guard their individual preserves. This works as long as everyone is pursuing the military option, but when it comes to power sharing, who calls the shots? Or, does it lead to no power sharing?

Second, can the Kabul regime present a unified front? If the leaders in Kabul and the government continue sniping at each other, it will adversely impact the integrity of the chain of command of the Afghan security forces. If opportunistic leaders are tempted to strike their own deals with the Taliban, it will only hasten the collapse, and even western funding will dry up.

The Pakistan factor

Finally, is Pakistan still seeking strategic depth in Afghanistan or has it realised that a Taliban-dominated Kabul will be a magnet for its own home-grown extremists as well as those from the neighbourhood? Can it persuade the Taliban that its legitimacy will be at risk unless it shares power? Pakistan's influence will weaken once the Rehbari Shura decides to move back from Quetta to Afghanistan.

History tells us that in Afghanistan, there have only been winners and losers, seldom any lasting compromises.

In a passing, the larger picture of dispossession

Blaming 'the system' alone for Father Stan Swamy's death obscures how India's political economy is linked to deprivation

CHITRANGADA CHOUDHURY

When an officer from the National Investigation Agency (NIA) came to interrogate Father Stan Swamy last month, the Jesuit sociologist, then 83, in turn asked him about police integrity, and why a father-son duo (P. Jayaraj and Bennicks) should die of custodial torture in a Tamil Nadu police lock-up. It was quintessential Fr. Swamy: unafraid, outspoken, and questioning injustice.

Fr. Swamy was sent to Talaja Jail in October 2020 in the Bhima Koregaon case, where some of his co-accused have now spent more than three years without bail or trial. All have been charged under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act (UAPA), a widely misused tool for governments to criminalise lawful dissent and hold ideological opponents in prolonged incarceration. For all the talk by authorities of a terrorist conspiracy, Fr. Swamy was never interrogated in nine months of custody. His arrest in the middle of the pandemic, over two years after the first raid on his spartan one-room residence, seems like targeted viciousness.

All Indians have dignity, not just the wealthy and the privileged. This belief guided Fr. Swamy's life-long concern for justice, as I saw in my interactions with him over the years as a journalist.

Adivasis and loss

When he first came to West Singhbhum from his native Tiruchirappalli in Tamil Nadu in the 1970s, living among the Adivasi communities profoundly shaped him. He had told me in an interview, "I underwent an awakening, looking at Adivasi values of equality, community, and decision-making by consensus." His work firmly rejected the prejudice of Adivasi 'backwardness', and tirelessly pointed out how violence and dispossession was pushed down their throats and called development: "Adivasis lived on lands full of minerals. Others took these out and enriched themselves, but Adivasis did not get anything."

In a decade-long tenure as Director of Bengaluru's Indian Social Institute, he trained countless grass-roots activists. He continued this work when he co-founded the Ranchi-based Bagaicha in 2006 – a centre for research, training and social action dedicated to working with Adivasi and other marginalised communities and legally empowering their struggles for justice and dignity. As long-time friends and colleagues testify, Fr. Swamy wanted it to be a place which the marginalised felt was their own. A statue of Birsa Munda and a megalith with the names of those killed in anti-displacement protests marked Bagaicha's central ground. Its one room library contained reports, studies and files of newspaper cuttings on issues such as forced displacement, hunger deaths, extra-judicial killings and grassroots protests – a buried history of India's democracy.

Helping hand for undertrials

When I first met Fr. Swamy in 2013, his team was immersed in efforts for poor undertrials in prisons across Jharkhand against a raging armed conflict. After three years of painstaking research based on prison visits, meeting police officials and villagers, and Right to Information Act requests, his team released a report that included the case studies of over 100 UAPA undertrials. Overwhelmingly, they were Adivasi and Dalits, and in some cases they had languished in the criminal justice system for up to 10 years. About 59% of the households of undertrials, the report found, earned under ₹3,000 per month and were forced to sell assets such as goats to meet bail conditions or legal expenses. Fr. Swamy also filed a public interest litigation on the basis of his team's findings, which is still being heard in the Jharkhand High Court. As he publicly stated before his arrest, he believed that such efforts to challenge an unjust status quo led the state to target him.

Fr. Swamy's demise has led to a public outpouring of sadness and anger at the cruelty of our criminal justice system. Ever self-effacing, he would have wanted this attention not on him but on the resource grabs that continue to inflict staggering violence against Adivasis and other marginalised groups, fill our prisons with people with little access to justice, and necessitate draconian laws such as the UAPA. To blame 'the system' or 'the government' for his death is to overlook how we are implicated in this political economy founded on dispossession, and the ever-expanding criminalisation of demands for social and environmental justice as conspiracies against the state.

Liberalisation, the oppressed

The human rights activist, K. Balagopal, had argued that an abiding legacy of liberalisation is the delegitimisation of concern for the oppressed. This is why a man who strove all his life for solidarity, fraternity and justice in real terms stands accused by our government of promoting enmity. And why his death, while foretold, transcends textual analyses of the UAPA, courtroom proceedings and prison reforms.

Fr. Swamy had one chance to appear in court, when a Bombay High Court Bench asked for him to be presented via video-conferencing from Talaja jail on the afternoon of May 21. Battling multiple ailments including Parkinson's disease, diminished hearing, and by then COVID-19 contracted in prison, he was visibly ailing, but as always full of self-respect.

He told the court that prison conditions were steadily destroying his abilities to read, write and walk, and that he be granted bail to return to Ranchi to be with his own. In rejecting the judges' suggestion that they send him to hospital for a few days, Fr. Swamy asserted his dignity and innocence, and registered a moral protest against being effectively made to serve a death sentence, as an indefinitely imprisoned undertrial.

As now well known, a dying man's final wish to return to Jharkhand, to the people he loved and with whose struggles he had become one for over five decades, went unheard. These struggles will keep Father Stan Swamy's quest for a more democratic India alive.

Jumbo cabinet

Wednesday's massive expansion of the Union cabinet will be remembered more for those who were given the marching orders, some of them being the most visible and vocal faces of the Modi government. While quite a few of those shown the door were undoubtedly non-performers, performance alone does not seem to have been the criterion that influenced the Prime Minister's mind. Non-performing Ministers continue in the cabinet, the most noticeable being the Finance Minister. Also, can the Prime Minister take credit for success in managing the pandemic while sacking the Ministers concerned for their incompetence? The Prime Minister alone has to answer this apparent contradiction. He has also deviated from his oft-repeated doctrine: minimum government-maximum governance, given the mega-sized cabinet.

S.K. CHOUDHURY,
Bengaluru

■ The Prime Minister has targeted non-performance with the removal of key senior Ministers who probably basked in the glory of invincibility. India now has a more inclusive Council of Ministers. Hopefully the inexperience of the new Ministers will give direction to new ideas to realise Mr. Narendra Modi's vision.

KANAK RAJAN NAMBIAR,
Varam, Kannur, Kerala

■ A cabinet expansion in the middle of the Government's second term has surprised many. That high-profile Ministers who have played a key role since the beginning of the NDA's rule, have now lost their jobs is intriguing. The Government has also tried to send the right signals in its representation to the educated, the young, women and the socially disadvantaged. But in the team where Prime Minister Narendra Modi is the sole leader, the fact is there will hardly be any difference in functioning with the new formations.

D. D.V.G. SANKARARAO,
Nellimarla, Andhra Pradesh

■ In what can be termed a bold initiative and well-timed move, the reshuffle will augur well for the nation. It could have twin benefits: the senior guard would really have to be on its toes, and this is an opportunity for freshers to work on a platform that has been set.

Dilip Kumar

It is a matter of honour and pride for both Dilip Kumar and India that he is the only Indian actor to receive the "Nishan-e-Imtiaz", one of Pakistan's highest awards. As reported by the thespian later, during the Kargil war, he was under pressure to return to it. His meeting with then Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee to seek his advice was the turning point. Mr. Vajpayee declared: "There is no doubt about Dilip's patriotism and commitment to nation... He has received the Award at an individual level. It's his will to keep it or return it. No one can pressurise him." This single incident shows the greatness of Mr. Vajpayee as a leader and a human being. One shudders to imagine the situation had it occurred now.

Wimbledon exit

Being an ardent fan of Roger Federer, it was painful to see the legend bow out of this year's Wimbledon, and in the quarter finals. What made it worse was his defeat in straight sets. We hope this does not affect him and make him hang up his racket. It could be a clear path now for Novak Djokovic to march on and soar in the Olympics and U.S. Open.

N. MAHADEVAN,

■ The "King of grass" was beaten convincingly, though it was an occasion when even his opponent could not believe his eyes. For millions of his fans the world over, the immediate reaction was whether this would spell his retirement. Many of us wish that he bounces back and returns to his favourite turf to make memories turn green for him and his fans.

A.P. THIRUVADI,

■ Federer's shocking defeat is an aberration in his illustrious career. Many of us second what a fan pleaded during the match: "One more year, please!" Will there be another appearance and one more title win for Federer at Wimbledon? Only he can answer this.

Should only elected legislators be eligible for chief ministership?

PARLEY

The option provided in the Constitution should be used with honesty, not just to tinker with politics

The sudden exit of Tirath Singh Rawat as Chief Minister of Uttarakhand, a development the Bharatiya Janata Party sought to explain in terms of a constitutional roadblock to being elected as a legislator within six months, has led to thickening speculation about the fate of West Bengal's Mamata Banerjee, another unelected Chief Minister. In a conversation moderated by Abdus Salam, M.R. Madhavan and S.Y. Quraishi thread through precedents and procedures as all eyes are firmly fixed on the Election Commission of India (ECI)'s next moves. Edited excerpts:

Should Chief Ministers be mandatorily picked from the pool of elected MLAs? Or at the very least, should a Member of Parliament resign immediately from the House if picked to lead a State?

M.R. Madhavan: Let's look at it from the first principles of how the Constitution is. We have a parliamentary democracy, which essentially means that whoever has the confidence of the majority of the members of the Lok Sabha, in the case of the Centre, will be the Prime Minister. It also requires that all Ministers should be a Member of Parliament (MP) or get elected within six months. Rather, it puts it in negative terms. Anybody who is a Minister and is not an MP for six months automatically stands to be disqualified from the administration. It visualises the Chief Minister as being elected by the members of the House of their own free will. And it assumes that the Chief Minister is a member. There are, of course, exceptional circumstances, especially for Ministers. Let me mention the fairly non-controversial case of Dr. Manmohan Singh in 1991 when there was a crisis, and Prime Minister P.V. Narasimha Rao wanted him as the Finance Minister. Was that for the national public good? In hindsight, we would say yes. In the case of a Chief Minister, it becomes slightly dicey. There is a party high command, especially in the case of national parties, which decides who will become the Chief Minister. Effectively you have removed the whole concept of the person being the popular choice of the elected people. So, the Chief Minister is an indirectly elected person by the directly elected members. But now the Chief Minister dictates how each of those persons will vote, because with the anti-defection law, we have weakened that accountability mechanism drastically. What is the way out? Not very clear.

The second part of your question is much clearer. If you look at various other parts of the Constitution, it's clear that the Constitution expects a person not to hold more than one constitutional position at a time. If you look at Article 101, it says that if a person is a member of both Houses of Parliament, he or she loses membership of one; if a person is an MP and gets elected as an MLA, or vice versa, he or she has about 14 days to resign from one.

When you are an MP and become the Chief Minister, you are the head of the executive of that State. So, what is your primary role? Is it to vote as a Member of Parliament? Or is it to be in the State and attend the State's legislature and be accountable to it? In that at least, we should definitely amend the Constitution to say that if you are going to be the Chief Minister or a Minister of a State, you should resign your membership of another House before taking up the role. That is, one should not occupy two constitutional offices concurrently.

S.Y. Quraishi: Whether it's a good thing or a bad thing is not the issue for us to decide, because the framers of the Constitution provided for this fresh air coming from outside, if need be, with the condition that within six months they need to get elected. It's a good provision and I feel we don't need to tinker with it because it does restrict options. Of course, this option should be used intelligently and with full honesty, and not just to tinker with politics. And it should be used sparingly.

So, you want the door to remain open for lateral entry. Coming specifically to Tirath Singh Rawat's case, was his election as MLA a constitutional impossibility?

SYQ: He could have easily contested the election. Didn't he anticipate that he would have to get elected in the thick of COVID-19? To say that in the time of COVID-19 it will not be advisable to conduct elections and therefore I'm resigning is a very flimsy excuse. It is some kind of a deeper political calculation. It's a build-up for something more serious, to create the precedent for West Bengal [bypolls] whereas the entire West Bengal [Assembly] election was held during COVID-19. And the Bihar election was held during COVID-19, and it was very well done. The ECI issued guidelines for COVID-19 before the Bihar election, which were beautiful. By then, it had the global experience of 70 countries which had conducted elections in the thick of COVID-19 and done them very well. [to learn from]. India learnt a lot from all of them, and then formulated its own guidelines. Having conducted a bigger election, what stopped the ECI from conducting a by-election in Uttarakhand? My feeling is that a scene may be created where by-elections won't be held. This should not create a precedent - that it would be dangerous to hold a by-election.

Mamata Banerjee has four months left to get elected as an MLA. Several Opposition leaders have suggested that Mr. Rawat's case portends a similar predicament for her. Is there reason for her to worry?

MRM: The constitutional position is clear, right? If she doesn't get elected, she can't be the Chief Minister. It is the job of the ECI, and not of anyone else, to ensure that there is that is the only security risk of COVID-19. Nobody has any reason to complain because the rules apply to all parties.

Given the extraordinary circumstances of a pandemic raging since early 2020, should we as a polity be flexible on constitutional and legislative deadlines?

MRM: I would say that you cannot defer the elections; you'll have to pull them off in some manner. The U.S. did that. If you say that under extraordinary circumstances, the constitutional requirement of parliamentary elections in five years could be deferred, then you will find people figuring out ways to create extraordinary situations more and more often, and these situations will become ordinary.

The ECI has the choice, because if an election is not held, it leads to a constitutional crisis. And the ECI's job is to ensure that there is no constitutional crisis instead of creating one. Under Section 151 of the Representation of the People Act, it is provided that if only one year is left of a House, a by-election will not be held. But it is actually at the discretion of the ECI to make an exception. And it has been making an exception only for the Chief Minister. Because in a House of 200-300, about three-four vacancies are always there. The government being allowed to fall because the ECI says it cannot hold an election... that would be the very unbecoming of the Commission. Now, in Section 151, a subsection provides that the ECI in consultation with the Central government certify that it is difficult to hold the by-election within the set period. I hope we don't read into that.

There's also the question of institutional resilience. What more can be done to insulate bodies such as the ECI from being seen as susceptible to external pressures?

MRM: There's a legitimacy of a government being formed in a free and fair election, and everybody subscribes to that. If that legitimacy is undermined, we are in deep crisis. What does the legitimacy rest on? It rests on public belief and public trust in the ECI holding free and fair elections. The ECI has been a very trusted institution for a fairly long time now. Is that public trust getting bigger or not? That's a big question.

SYQ: The ECI has a constitution designed for it to be insulated from the government. Which is why once appointed, the Chief Election Commissioner cannot be removed except through impeachment. Now, there are two reforms that we have been shouting for. The Commission is appointed by the government of the day without consulting the Opposition. It is a different matter that all the Election Commissioners appointed through this route performed very well. And we hope that it will continue to happen. But hope is not a strategy, a system has to be in place. Nowhere in the world does such a situation exist. In some countries, there is scrutiny by Parliament. In some cases, the candidates are interviewed by Parliament. The systemic change we are pleading for is that appointments should be through a collegium. And promotions should be automatic, on the basis of seniority. Second, the removal procedure of the two Election Commissioners. They are not protected, so they feel they are on probation. They're always looking over their shoulder to see if the government is happy with them or not. That fear is absolutely dangerous and disastrous. So, that protection has to be provided. Government after government has not paid any heed to this extremely important and critical issue. And even the Supreme Court has not claimed the issue, despite its grave importance.

MRM: Today, the CBI [Central Bureau of Investigation] Director is appointed by a committee which includes the Chief Justice of India, the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition. Is the ECI far more fundamental and important an institution than the head of the CBI? Obviously, yes. This would also provide greater authority to the Commission because appointments would be made after an agreement across political lines. The Central Information Commission is not a constitutional body, it is a statutory body, but appointments are through a collegium. The CBI is not even a constitutional or statutory body. Why do we have our priorities upside down?

Tracking fugitives everywhere

In the absence of a coordinated database, criminals can go undetected

RUPIN SHARMA

Indian law on extradition is spread across the Indian Penal Code as well as various laws pertaining to narcotic drugs, Information Technology, hijacking, and so on. Procedural laws have the Code of Criminal Procedure as their backbone but there are other laws too, such as the Extradition Act, the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, the Prevention of Corruption Act, the Prevention of Money Laundering, and so on.

Investigation and prosecution

The bulk of the investigation and prosecution work happens at police stations in the States, while Central agencies take up the important cases. Central agencies have developed reasonable expertise because they are focussed only on investigation and prosecution work, whereas State police forces (except specialised wings) are engaged in law-and-order work as well as investigations. There is a tendency to close investigations once the accused have absconded, and an overwhelming tendency to bank on statements obtained from the accused or during interrogation before closing investigations. It would be interesting to know what proportion of arrest warrants obtained by investigation agencies of States pertain to persons who have absconded or are 'wanted', whether within India or abroad. Some police stations do initiate proceedings for attachment of property and declaration of the accused as proclaimed offenders, but the number of cases where coordinated efforts are made to pursue fugitives - domestically or internationally - are hardly documented. If the number of Red Corner Notices issued are of any indication, only about 750 such criminals are wanted by Indian agencies. The number of Blue Corner Notices issued is about 300.

Theoretically there exists a system of tracking criminals worldwide - through Interpol Notices and the sharing of immigration databases of different countries - but there is no coordinated system or database for tracking criminals or wanted persons domestically. In the absence of such a system, it is relatively easy for criminals from one police station/jurisdiction to melt into the population in any other area, almost undetected.

Requirements

The creation of a nationwide database of wanted persons, which could be accessible for police agencies, the public and others (like passport and immigration authorities), is imperative. The Crime and Criminal Tracking Network and Systems and the National Intelligence Grid are efforts in the right direction, but more integration is desirable. Perhaps a nationwide system of 'Wanted Persons Notices', similar to Interpol Notices, is required, to help track fugitives domestically. Countries like the U.S. have functional inter-State extradition and fugitive tracking systems; India needs to set up such dedicated 'fugitive tracking units'. There needs to be enhanced integration between immigration agencies, State police agencies, Interpol-New Delhi, the External Affairs Ministry and Home Ministry and central investigation agencies. Intelligence agencies also need to pool in.

What may also help India plug loopholes is sharing its 'wanted' database or providing access to it to foreign embassies on a reciprocal basis or through treaties or arrangements. All this will help detect possible plans of criminals to abscond abroad.

Signing of more bilateral and multilateral conventions on criminal matters would help plug legal infirmities. Signing bilateral agreements on cooperation in policing matters would also help. All relevant legal processes and requirements should be incorporated into one consolidated law on international cooperation.

The entire gamut of activities pertaining to fugitives, from investigation to extradition, needs to be incorporated into a specialised set-up with an Integrated International Cooperation Division (IICD) at the top. The IICD should have linkages with proposed fugitive tracking units at the State level. This would ensure that requisite expertise and forward-and-backward linkages are created. Making systems watertight would deter criminals from hoodwinking the law.

DATA POINT

How qualified are teachers in India?

In India, a significant share of teachers in the pre-primary, primary and upper primary levels neither possess an academic degree* from a college (a graduate or a post-graduate degree) nor a professional degree^ (such as B.Ed. or a certificate in basic teachers training). While the share of such underqualified teachers was lower in the secondary and higher secondary levels, in some States there were quite a few underqualified teachers at these levels. For instance, in Andhra Pradesh, 10% of upper primary and 8% of secondary level teachers were underqualified. The problem is more acute at the lower levels, especially across most north-eastern States. Most such teachers are concentrated in private unaided schools and institutions managed by the Department of Education. The data are sourced from the latest UDISE report for 2019-20. By Jasmin Nihalani and Vignesh Radhakrishnan

STATE-WISE | The table shows the % of teachers who are underqualified across States at various levels of education. For instance, about 16% of pre-primary, 8% of primary, 13% of upper primary, 3% of secondary and 1% of higher secondary teachers were underqualified in Bihar. In general, the share of such teachers decreases as the level of education increases

FROM THE ARCHIVES

FIFTY YEARS AGO JULY 9, 1971

Big newspaper ownership

The Minister of State for Information and Broadcasting, Mrs. Nandini Satpathi, informed the Lok Sabha to-day [New Delhi, July 6] that the Government was considering bringing forward suitable legislation to secure a broader base of ownership of newspapers having a circulation above a specific minimum. Replying to the debate on the demands for grants of her Ministry, she said that was one of the steps contemplated by the Government to ensure freedom of the press and end monopolistic ownership of newspapers. The intention was that newspapers with a larger circulation should be owned by a comparatively larger number of people. This indeed had been recommended by the Press Commission more than 15 years ago. The proposed legislation, she said, might also provide for full disclosure of the financial interest and transactions of larger newspapers. She reiterated that the Government believed in complete and full freedom of the press.

A HUNDRED YEARS AGO JULY 9, 1921

The Viceroy's Speech

There is little in Lord Reading's speech on the Indian situation, which we published yesterday, to indicate either that His Excellency has appreciated the Indian point of view or that he is prepared to recognise that a bold stroke of statesmanship is necessary to ease the Indian situation. A repetition, for a third time or more, of age-long and empty platitudes is calculated only further to deepen the wounds and we are unable to see in the Viceroy's speech anything more than a repetition of his favourite platitudes. The Punjab wrong, His Excellency still thinks, is to be a closed chapter not to be reopened. Sir William Vincent's references in a dark corner of his speech to "official excesses" whose effects he cleverly extenuated by drawing a lurid picture of the disturbances are considered by the Viceroy as sufficient apology for the great wrong. Such an attitude on the part of the Viceroy is not calculated to enhance his reputation for taking a "sternly just" view of things. It is an abuse of language to state that the butchery at Jallianwalla and the subsequent barbarity which left wounded men in the field to the passers-by, if there were any, were mere "excesses," comparable to the isolated excesses of the mob. It is deliberate callousness to the loss of Indian lives for which the Government have yet to answer to the people of India.

Cairn says it has court nod to attach assets

While the Paris properties are estimated to yield about $23 million, Cairn sources had told The Hindu that they have identified assets worth about $70 billion in several jurisdictions that they could potentially attach through court orders.

Cairn lawyers have registered The Hague award in courts in at least 10 jurisdictions including the U.S., the U.K., Netherlands, Canada, France, Singapore, Japan, the UAE and even the Cayman Islands.

In New York court

In June, Cairn lawyers approached the court in the Southern District of New York, making the plea that Air India should be made liable for the outstanding settlement, and stating that other state-owned corporations could be targeted as well.

Last month, some foreign investors in Devas Multimedia filed a similar plea in the same court, seeking to declare Air India as the Indian government's "alter ego" and recover a $160 million compensation awarded to the firm after an international arbitration over its scrapped deal with ISRO's commercial arm, Antrix Corporation.

The government has until next week to file its challenge to the Cairn Energy plea in the New York court. Even as the tax dispute has snowballed into a tussle in international courts, both the Indian government and Cairn Energy said they were open to continuing talks over the issue.

"Government has already filed an application on March 22, 2021 to set aside the December 2020 international arbitral award in The Hague Court of Appeal. Government of India will vigorously defend its case in Set Aside proceedings at The Hague," the Finance Ministry asserted on Thursday.

In December, the three-member tribunal in the Permanent Court of Arbitration at The Hague ruled unanimously against the retrospective tax levied by India on Cairn in 2015. It ruled that the tax fell afoul of the bilateral investment pact between India and the U.K.

SC backs summons to FB from Delhi riots panel

The Committee merely wanted him to depose as a witness.

The court rejected Facebook's argument that the Committee had no jurisdiction over law and order in Delhi, and it was encroaching into the Centre's turf.

"The concept of peace and harmony goes much beyond law and order and police... The unfortunate communal riots led to the death of 53 persons, caused significant damage... The complexity of communal tensions and their wide-ranging ramifications is a matter affecting citizens of Delhi. It cannot be said that the Government of Delhi cannot look into the causal factors in order to formulate appropriate remedial measures," Justice Kaul reasoned.

The judgment said an "informed deliberation" by the Assembly's elected representatives on the best measures to combat online mass hate and violence in their geographical jurisdiction was very much within the Committee's competence.

However, the court said the Facebook representative appearing before the Committee need not answer any query from the Committee directly regarding law, order and the police.

The court dismissed Facebook's argument that the Assembly ought to confine itself to making laws rather than enquire into the circumstances of the riots. "This would be unreasonably restricting the role of an elected body... It is not only their concern but their duty to ensure that 'peace and harmony' prevails," the court underscored.

Will your officers follow the law, HC asks Twitter

"We want final accountability which is of great certificate. It can't be left in a half-way house via third party," Mr. Sharma said.

Interim CCO posted

Twitter, in its short note, submitted that it had appointed an interim CCO effective July 6, 2021.

Twitter said it had posted publicly a job announcement for a CCO, a resident grievance officer and a nodal contact person as a direct employee and was accepting applications at this time.

In the meantime, Twitter said it was in the process of making an offer of appointment to a resident of India as its interim resident grievance officer and expected to do so on or before July 11.

"Twitter intends to engage the services of the interim RGO as a contingent worker via a third party contractor," it said, adding that the duties of the resident grievance officer were being performed by the grievance officer, who would continue to do so until the appointment.

No permanent address

The court also questioned why Twitter did not have a permanent physical address in India as its short note said that its interim physical contact address in India was located in Bengaluru.

Earlier the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY) had stated that despite being granted three months to all significant social media intermediaries to comply with the new IT rules, Twitter had failed to do so. The Ministry said Twitter failed to comply with India's law regulating tech companies rendering their services as 'intermediaries'.

Interim bail to 13 persons held in jail against norms

According to the petition, there were "clear and unchallenged rulings" from the Juvenile Justice Board declaring the 13 prisoners as juveniles at the time of commission of their crime.

"Yet no steps have been taken to release them forthwith. The miseries are further compounded by the fact that these petitioners who are languishing in Agra Central Jail have already undergone judicial incarceration for periods ranging from 14 to 22 years," the petition said.

Mr. Malhotra said they had spent years in "hardcore jails" among "hardcore criminals". "This completely negates the purpose and objects of the Juvenile Justice Act," the petition stated.

Mass transfers before Gangwar's exit

Just before quitting as Labour Minister, he oversaw shifting of nearly 120 senior officers in the EPFO

VIKAS DHOOT
NEW DELHI

The day before Prime Minister Narendra Modi rejigged the Union Council of Ministers, there was another major reshuffle under the administrative watch of the outgoing Minister Santosh Gangwar — in a statutory body tasked with managing lakhs of crores of rupees.

Nearly 120 top officials in the Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO), which oversees the retirement savings of India's formal workforce, were transferred in an unprecedented en masse mid-year transfer on July 6 through two separate orders.

Moreover, before the oath-taking ceremony of the new ministerial council at the Rashtrapati Bhavan on

Making ends meet: Subscribers at an EPFO office in Hyderabad during the pandemic. ■ NAGARA GOPAL

Wednesday evening, these officers in the rank of Additional Central PF Commissioner and Regional PF Commissioner - 1 (RPFC-1), were also relieved of their duties so they could take charge of their new assignments.

As many as 12 Additional Central PF Commissioners were transferred, while 105 RPFC-1 rank officers (almost half of the sanctioned cadre strength) were shifted to new postings as per the transfer orders reviewed by The Hindu.

"The officers shall be relieved with immediate effect and shall join their new place of posting within three days without availing joining time," the order said, sparking concerns among several officers about making such a swift move amid the COVID-19 pandemic.

Sources said the process for effecting the transfer orders was hurried through so as to complete it before Mr. Gangwar demitted office, and a new Minister assumed charge.

Mr. Gangwar resigned as Minister of State with Independent Charge of the Labour and Employment Ministry on Wednesday and his successor Bhupendra Yadav assumed charge on Thursday afternoon.

"There are several officers who have been transferred out prior to completion of their term and some officers have been transferred to far off places against the options exercised by them," the EPF Officers' Association pointed out in a missive to CPFC Sunil Barthwal on Thursday.

Detailed queries on the transfer orders 'issued with the approval of the competent authority' sent to the Union Labour and Employment Secretary Apurva Chandra and CPFC Sunil Barthwal didn't elicit a response. The new Minister Mr Yadav did not respond to queries on whether he will review the orders. Veteran EPF officers said the latest transfer orders are not compliant with the policy laid down in 2016 for EPFO, after a Supreme Court judgment in 2013 directed the government to improve transparency in postings and transfers.

ED questions Khadse for nine hours

STAFF REPORTER
MUMBAI

Former Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leader Eknath Khadse, who joined the Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) last year, was questioned by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) for over nine hours on Thursday. The probe comes a day after his son-in-law was arrested by the agency in the alleged money laundering case related to a land deal in Pune.

Mr. Khadse said the investigation by the ED is nothing but politically motivated witch-hunting as he had dared to quit the BJP. His lawyer said that Mr. Khadse was ready to cooperate with the agency even in future and would appear if he was needed again.

FB cannot duck onus on content: SC

'Though it enabled free speech, it has also become a platform for disruptive voices'

KRISHNADAS RAJAGOPAL
NEW DELHI

In a stinging judgment, the Supreme Court on Thursday said giant social media platforms such as Facebook, whose active users account for over one-third of the global population, cannot evade responsibility by "simplistically" claiming they had no power over the third-party information they display.

"The sheer population of our country makes it an important destination for Facebook. We are possibly more diverse than the whole of Europe in local culture, food, clothing, language, religion, traditions and yet have a history of what has now commonly been called 'unity in diversity'. This cannot be disrupted at any cost or under any professed freedom by a giant like Facebook claiming ignorance or lack of any pivotal role," a Bench led by Justice S.K. Kaul observed in a 188-page judgment.

The court was deciding on a petition filed by Facebook India chief Ajit Mohan challenging the summons issued by Delhi Legislative Assembly's Peace and Harmony Committee, enquiring into the communal riots which rocked the Capital in February last year.

The court said Facebook "is a business first than anything else". By its own admission, the court noted, Facebook appears only before committees which serve their commercial and operational interests.

"But if their business interests are not served, they seek a right to stay away. Such a stand is completely unacceptable to us. Facebook has the power of not simply a hand but a fist, gloved as it may be," Justice Kaul lashed out.

The court said social media entities like Facebook have to remain accountable to those who entrust them with their vast powers. The power and potentiality of the social media intermediaries runs across borders. They are multinational corporations with large wealth and influence at their command. Their influence extends over populations. But this power must necessarily come with responsibility, the court underscored.

While admittedly Facebook has played a crucial role in enabling free speech by providing a voice to the voiceless, it has also simultaneously become a platform for disruptive messages, voices, and ideologies, the court said.

6 militants, 2 jawans killed in Kashmir

One of the encounters took place close to the Line of Control in Rajouri

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
SRINAGAR

Six militants and two soldiers were killed in three separate gunfights, including one close to the Line of Control (LoC) in Rajouri in Jammu & Kashmir, on Thursday.

"A search party of the Army established an engagement with the terrorists in the Dadal forest area in Sunderbani Sector on Thursday and challenged them. The terrorists opened fire and lobbed hand grenades, leading to a fierce encounter. Two foreign terrorists from Pakistan were killed and two AK-47 rifles and ammunition were recovered from them.

In the operation, Naib Subedar Sreejith M. and Sepoy Maruprolu Jaswanth Reddy also died," a Jammu-based Army spokesperson said. Earlier in the day, the police said four Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) militants had been killed in two anti-militancy operations in south Kashmir's Pulwama and Kulgam.

"All the four militants killed in two separate operations in Kulgam and Pulwama districts were locals. Two militants killed in Kulgam were planning a big strike on the National Highway. In fact, the encounter took place in an area close to the highway," Inspector General of Police Vijay Kumar said.

The Jammu district administration on Thursday declared the Raj Bhavan and the Civil Secretariat to be 'No fly zones', and also banned the use of drone cameras during the Lieutenant-Governor's event in the district.

External Affairs Minister S. Jaishankar on Thursday said that there had been a "lot of concern" over the India-China relationship since the last one year because Beijing had not observed agreements on the border issue, which had "disturbed" the foundation of the bilateral relationship.

"I would say for the last 40 years, we had a very stable relation with China... China emerged as the second largest trade partner...," Mr. Jaishankar said in response to a question on China-India relations at the Primakov Institute of World Economy and International Relations in Moscow.

"But for the last one year, there has been a lot of concern about the relationship because China has not observed agreements that it had signed up to when it came to our border," said Mr. Jaishankar, who is here on a three-day visit.

OIC should be watchful of vested interests: MEA

India reacts strongly to statement

KALLOL BHATTACHERJEE
NEW DELHI

The Organisation of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) should not allow itself to be "subverted" by Pakistan, which may prompt it to interfere in India's internal affairs, said an official of the Ministry of External Affairs on Thursday.

Official spokesperson Arindam Bagchi clarified the Indian position hours after the OIC announced that Indian Ambassador to Saudi Arabia Ausaf Sayeed on July 5 met Secretary General Yousef Al-Othaimen for a discussion when OIC proposed to "assist" in a dialogue between India and Pakistan.

"Our Ambassador conveyed the need to correct some of the misperceptions about India that are perpetuated by vested interests in the OIC. Further, the OIC should be watchful that their platform is not subverted by these vested interests for comments on internal affairs of India or for anti-India propaganda through biased and one-sided resolutions," Mr. Bagchi said, confirming that the meeting was requested by the OIC Secretary General.

Mr. Bagchi later clarified that he had referred to Pakistan through the use of the term "vested interests". The discussion between the two sides comes in the context of the reported back channel talks between India and Pakistan that are being assisted by the UAE.

The OIC had stated that the meeting between Dr. Sayeed and Dr. Al-Othaimen "reviewed a number of issues concerning the situation of Muslims in India, along with the Jammu and Kashmir dispute, and relevant UN and OIC resolutions opposing any unilateral actions on the issue".

'Pak. claim of Indian hand in blast baseless'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
NEW DELHI

India on Thursday trashed as "baseless propaganda" Pakistan's claim that it was behind a bomb blast near the house of Jamaat-ud-Dawa chief Hafiz Saeed in Lahore last month, and asked Islamabad to take "credible and verifiable" action against terrorism emanating from its soil instead.

At a media briefing, Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) spokesperson Arindam Bagchi asked Pakistan to focus on setting its own house in order in containing terror networks.

Pakistan's National Security Adviser Moeed Yusuf had alleged that the mastermind of the attack "is an Indian citizen" associated with RAW (Research and Analysis Wing).

"The international community is well aware of Pakistan's credentials when it comes to terrorism," Mr. Bagchi said, adding that Pakistan continued to "glorify terrorists like Osama bin Laden as martyrs".

Panel report on data Bill hangs fire

Five members of the Joint Parliamentary Committee have now been made Ministers

SOBHANA K. NAIR
NEW DELHI

Wednesday's Cabinet expansion by Prime Minister Narendra Modi saw five members of the Joint Committee on Personal Data Protection Bill, including its Chairperson Meenakshi Lekhi, being inducted into the Council of Ministers, raising questions over the long-pending report of the panel.

The inductees include the new Minister for Electronics and Information Technology Ashwini Vaishnaw and Minister of State Rajeev Chandrasekhar.

The Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY) helms the Bill. The Bill seeks to provide protection of personal data of individuals and was introduced in December 2019 in the Lok Sabha. It was referred to the joint parliamentary panel, headed by BJP MP Meenakshi Lekhi, in

New role: Officials greeting Rajeev Chandrasekhar, left, in New Delhi on Thursday as he takes charge as MoS. •PTI

February last year. It is yet to submit its report.

Ms. Lekhi is now the MoS for External Affairs and Culture. The other committee members now in the Cabinet are Bhupender Yadav, now Union Environment Minister, also handling the Ministry of Labour, and Ajay Bhatt, who is the new MoS for Defence and Tourism.

Ten of the 30 members of the committee had moved amendments against a provision (Clause 35) in the legislation giving power to the Central government to exempt any agency of government from application of the Act. The members have said that this clause makes the entire

Act infructuous. The 10 members are Mr. Chandrasekhar, Congress MPs Jairam Ramesh, Manish Tewari, and Gaurav Gogoi, Trinamool Congress MPs Derek O'Brien and Mahua Moitra along with Biju Janta Dal MPs Bharatuhari Mahtab and Amar Patnaik, BSP's Ritesh Pandey, and Shiv Sena MP Shrikant Eknath Shinde. The Hindu has accessed a copy of the amendments moved by the members.

Invoking "sovereignty and integrity of India", "public order", "friendly relations with foreign states" and "security of the state", the legislation gives powers to the Central government to suspend all or any of the provisions of this Act for government agencies.

In his amendment, Mr. Chandrasekhar had sought further tightening of the existing clause, adding "health emergencies", "public safety emergencies" as the other scenarios allowing the Centre to step in to provide exemptions. He and other members also demanded that the Bill revise the definition of a 'child'. Presently as per the Act, anyone below 18 years of age has been described as a 'child'.

"For six months, I have been requesting a draft report of the Joint Committee on Personal Data Protection Bill be circulated to its members. Now the Chairperson has become a Minister along with 3 members. What happens now to the Committee & draft report? The new Ministers had much to say on the Bill," Committee member Jairam Ramesh tweeted.

The Select Committee so far has held 66 meetings and its last sitting was on December 29 last year. The members were told that a draft report was ready and would soon be circulated.

A journey from the IAS and corporate world to Cabinet

Vaishnaw has the reputation of being a silent, astute worker

SATYASUNDAR BARIK
BHUBANESWAR

Ashwini Vaishnaw, who took over as the new Minister of Railways, Communications and Electronics and Information Technology, was anonymous in political spheres just two years ago.

His ascent to crucial Ministries previously held by political bigwigs such as Piyush Goyal and Ravi Shankar Prasad was dramatic and meteoric in equal measure.

The search for a person to fulfil Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision for Indian Railways as a key factor in driving the nation's economy stopped at a man considered a political novice.

But, those who take a look at 50-year-old Mr. Vaishnaw's career graph will see that he has a varied and vast experience in bureaucracy and corporate world, besides the reputation of being a silent and astute worker.

IIT alumnus

The Jodhpur-born Mr. Vaishnaw did his M.Tech. from IIT-Kanpur and later cracked the Civil Services exam with an all-India rank of 27 in 1994. During his short stint in the Odisha bureaucracy, he worked as District Collector of Balasore and Cuttack, earning the reputation of an efficient administrator while being low profile.

In 1999, when access to the Internet was limited, the tech-savvy Collector monitored the U.S. Navy prediction for the Super Cyclone and alerted the top administration about its intensity.

"I remember him as a bright and meticulous officer," said Sahdeb Sahu, former Chief Secretary of Odisha.

In 2003, Mr. Vaishnaw moved to New Delhi to work as a Deputy Secretary in the Prime Minister's Office during the Atal Bihari Vajpayee regime. When Vajpayee lost the general election in 2004, he became his private secretary. This was the period when Mr. Vaishnaw came into contact with many BJP leaders who are at the helm of affairs now, Mr. Modi being one of them.

He later left for the U.S. to pursue an MBA course from the Wharton School of Business, Pennsylvania. He was quoted saying that since he was in debt following his MBA course, he had to quit the IAS job. Subsequently, he worked for multinational companies such as General Electric and Siemens.

His dramatic entry into politics came in 2019 when he was named as a Biju Janata Dal (BJD) candidate for the Rajya Sabha polls by Odisha Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik. However, half an hour later, a clarification came. Mr. Vaishnaw filed nomination as a BJP candidate. Mr. Modi had apparently made a call seeking BJD's support for his new Cabinet colleague. The BJD extended its support and ensured his election to the Upper House.

JD(U) leaders red-faced over climbdown

Party sought 4 berths, but settled for 1

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI

There is stunned silence in the JD(U) on the party's climbdown from its 2019 position of refusing to join Prime Minister Narendra Modi's Council of Ministers over mere "symbolic representation", to settling for a single berth in the latest expansion.

Rajya Sabha member and party chief R.C.P. Singh was sworn in as Minister for Steel on Wednesday.

Party leaders are at pains to explain the reason for the embarrassing capitulation as also the choice of Mr. Singh over other more experienced lieutenants of Mr. Kumar.

In 2019, the JD(U) was offered two berths – a Cabinet position and a Minister of State. At that time Bihar Chief Minister and then party national president Nitish Kumar said, "They [the BJP] said they want to give one Cabinet rank to every ally. Then we said that we will discuss it with party members and then only we can say anything over this symbolic representation. I spoke to my party leaders and the unanimous view was that we should stay out of the Ministry. Everybody felt there should be proportional representation in an alliance government."

The party had then argued that it should get "proportional representation" having won 16 out of the 17 Lok Sabha seats it contested in Bihar against 17 won by the BJP and six by the LJP as part of the National Democratic Alliance (NDA). Bihar has 40 Lok Sabha seats. As per their deductions, the BJP has five Ministers from Bihar, so the JD (U) proportionally should get four. This time round, too, the party demanded four positions.

'We are shocked'

However, two days before the Cabinet expansion on Monday, Mr. Kumar changed his stance saying that he is not aware of any such formula. He said the party's newly appointed national president R.C.P. Singh was in Delhi and had been authorised to finalise everything with the BJP.

"We are now reduced to the level of Apna Dal or LJP. They too have one member each. What can I possibly say, we are shocked ourselves. This is daylight robbery and probably an insider's job," a senior JD(U) leader said. None of the leaders that The Hindu reached out to wanted to speak on record.

No place for complacency in COVID-19 fight: Modi

Learn from predecessors, he tells new team

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday told his Council of Ministers that there was no place for complacency in the fight against COVID-19 with a single mistake having far-reaching consequences for the country. He was addressing the Ministers via video conferencing in their first such meeting after taking the oath of office on Wednesday.

Government sources said India was powering ahead in its fight against the pandemic along with the efforts of health workers and other "corona warriors" but scenes of overcrowding and markets teeming with people without masks or social distancing were "not a pleasant sight" and "should instil a sense of fear".

He said India's vaccination and testing rates were high but the surge in infections in many European countries should instil caution in India too and urged the Ministers to stress COVID-appropriate behaviour. He expressed concern at the rising cases of COVID-19 in Kerala and Maharashtra in the past few days. He also asked the Ministers to learn from their predecessors, even those who were dropped in Wednesday's re-jig.

"He told the new Ministers that those no longer part of the government have made contributions and newcomers can learn from them," a source present at the meeting said. He said they should reach office on time and channel their energies to ministerial work and the focus should be to reach out to the last person standing in the queue. The focus should be to reach out to the last person in the queue. He cautioned them against going after publicity and media visibility at the cost of work, saying "unnecessary statements should be avoided".

New Law Minister Rijiju promises transparency

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision of 'Atma Nirbhar Bharat' (self-reliant India) requires a robust legal system, Law and Justice Minister Kiren Rijiju said on Thursday after taking charge. He promised transparency in his dealings.

The Lok Sabha member from Arunachal West replaced Ravi Shankar Prasad in the Cabinet reshuffle.

"I am entering the room for the first time and it's a huge challenge for me and a responsibility to discharge the function of the Minister for Law and Justice of the country... But everything can be handled with proper guidance, understanding of the subject and the application of the mind," said the 49-year-old Minister, who has a law degree from the Delhi University but never practised as a lawyer.

The Law Ministry plays a key role in the transfer, posting and elevation of Supreme Court and High Court judges. Filling of vacancies in the top court and the 25

HCs and more recruitment of officers in the subordinate judiciary are two key challenges before him. Improvement of infrastructure, especially in the time of COVID-19 when courts functioned virtually; the creation of an all-India judicial service that streamlines recruitment process of officers and projection of India as a major arbitration hub are the other challenges before him.

The newly appointed MoS in the Law Ministry, S.P. Singh Baghel, also took charge.

It is also designed to offer the potential to generate high and sustained immune responses, and the potential to prevent virus transmission, it added.

BJP, NC pitch for new delimitation criteria

The demand is unique to Jammu

PEERZADA ASHIQ SRINAGAR

Political parties and civil society members, across the ideological divide, demanded an increase in number of Assembly seats for the Chenab Valley in the Jammu province on Thursday, during their meeting with the J&K Delimitation Commission, headed by Justice Ranjana Prakash Desai (retd).

Sunil Sharma of the BJP, who met the panel along with five other leaders, suggested that the fresh electoral rolls and not the 2011 Census should be the basis of delimitation. "The 2011 Census was fudged. Earlier, constituencies were identified to please two families. Our suggestion is that the population should not be the sole criterion. The terrain, its vastness, accessibility and scattered population should be taken into consideration. The Chenab Valley should be seen as per the watershed of the river Chenab and accordingly new constituencies should be identified," Mr. Sharma said.

National Conference (NC) provincial leader Devender Singh Rana also submitted a proposal to the panel in

End this cycle of violence, says Mirwaiz

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT SRINAGAR

Hurriyat chairman Mirwaiz Umar Farooq on Thursday called for a resolution to the Kashmir problem to bring an end to the cycle of killings. Meanwhile, a spontaneous shutdown was observed in parts of the Kashmir valley on the fifth death anniversary of Hizbul Mujahideen "commander" Burhan Wani.

Jammu and echoed the BJP demands in framing a new criterion to delimit constituencies.

"Delimitation should be as per the constitutional framework based on the basic tenets of delimitation, population, geography, topography, area, various physical features, contiguity, convenience of administrative units and facilities of easy communication and approachability of public convenience," the memorandum reads.

PM stresses local language education

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi emphasised on the importance of providing engineering education in local languages, during a virtual meeting with the heads of 106 Centrally funded technical institutions and newly appointed Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan on Thursday. According to one of the attendees, Mr. Modi said even research papers and journals in English should be translated.

"PM added that we need to develop an ecosystem of technological education in Indian languages and translate global journals into regional languages," said a Ministry statement.

This has been a key recommendation of the National Education Policy and the Education Ministry had set up a panel headed by Higher Education Secretary Amit Khare to explore ways to begin offering technical education in Indian languages at the highest level. According to the statement, the Prime Minister said "there is a need to adapt higher education and technical education to keep in tune with the changing environment".

Farmers' stir draws smaller crowds

Strategic decision to spread protest in many locations, says union leader

PRISCILLA JEBARAJ NEW DELHI

Farmers from various States who responded to the Samyukt Kisan Morcha's call to protest against fuel price hikes and the rising costs of essential commodities, showed up in much smaller numbers on Thursday than at the peak of the agitation, which has now completed seven months.

Some farmer leaders admit that there are challenges in sustaining the attention of the protesters, the public and the policy makers over such a long period of time.

The SKM said there were reports of protests from locations in at least 13 States.

Cabinet okays ₹23,123 cr. aid package

Funding will help set up 20,000 additional ICU beds, paediatric units in districts

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI

The Union Cabinet on Thursday approved a ₹23,123 crore package to boost emergency response and healthcare systems, including funding for 20,000 additional ICU (intensive care unit) beds and the setting up of paediatric units in all districts, ahead of a potential third wave of COVID-19 in the country.

At a meeting chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi a day after the expansion and reshuffle of portfolios, the Cabinet approved the second phase of the package. Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya said the second phase of the package included funding for paediatric units in all 736 districts, and the setting up of 20,000 ICU beds, 20% of which would be "hybrid", that is, for adults as well as children.

Mr. Mandaviya said the package was aimed at preventing the problems observed during the second wave, including lack of transport facilities for oxygen and shortage of medicines, from happening again.

The package would be implemented from July 1, 2021 to March 31, 2022, with the Centre's share being ₹15,000 crore and the States' share at ₹8,123 crore, the statement said.

The Centre would provide support to its hospitals, the All India Institutes of Medical Sciences, and other institutes of national importance, for repurposing 6,688 beds for COVID-19 management, it said. Genome sequencing machines would be provided to the National Centre for Disease Control, it added. The package would also provide for the expansion of the national telemedicine platform, eSanjeevani, by increasing daily consultations from 50,000 at present to 5 lakh. States would be "supported" to carry out at least 21.5 lakh tests a day and add 8,800 ambulances.

End NSA 'misuse' in U.P.: former top officials

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT LUCKNOW

A group of former civil servants has demanded that the "draconian" preventive detention law, the National Security Act, saying it had been mainly used against Muslims, Dalits and dissenters for alleged offences such as cow slaughter, protests against the Citizenship (Amendment) Act and attacks on the police. All these

They also demanded an end to the "misuse" of the "draconian" preventive detention law, the National Security Act, saying it had been mainly used against Muslims, Dalits and dissenters for alleged offences such as cow slaughter, protests against the Citizenship (Amendment) Act and attacks on the police. All these could be dealt with under normal penal provisions, they argued.

The 54 signatories to an open letter on "breakdown of governance and blatant violation of rule of law" in Uttar Pradesh included Julio Riberio, former adviser to the Governor of Punjab and former Ambassador to Romania; Najeeb Jung, former Lieutenant Governor, Delhi; and retired IAS officer Harsh Mander.

Targeting Muslim men for alleged "forced conversion" of Hindu women with whom they had a friendly or romantic relationship continued under a vaguely worded law that allowed the police and administration to misuse it, the letter said.

FAITH

Self-dependent virtues

Janaka's court was always alive with Vedantic discussions and debates by the most well-versed scholars and sages of those times. This rightful ruler was also an excellent disciple to the preceptors from whom he imbibed sastra knowledge. He was quick to perceive the young Ashtavakra's wisdom and wished to learn further precepts from him. The sage's instruction is known as Ashtavakra Gita.

In a discourse, Sri R. Rajagopala Sarma drew attention to the guru sishya equation in this case which is unique, for Janaka though ripe in age and jnana becomes a humble seeker and the preceptor though young is extraordinarily wise and astute. Janaka asks the sage to explain how one can attain jnana and get liberated. There is no other option in this pursuit, except to give up the longing for sense objects, is the very first instruction which is also very difficult to follow. For, in creation, the senses are poised to look outwards and there is constant exposure to the objects, places and people of the world. Naturally, the senses are drawn to them. This situation has to be broken and the senses are to be turned to look at the atma within.

To help us in this endeavour, it is advised that we learn to consider sense objects as poison and shun them totally. We have to understand how sense objects poison the mind. The moment there is an emotional reaction in the mind to any sense object, a strong desire to possess it arises. Then one goes to any extent to possess it. He only brings forth on himself more attachments and worries in the process. The wise instead consciously control the mind and direct it to seek the valuable nectar derived by the practice of moral virtues such as forgiveness, kindness and contentment. These make one self-dependent rather than sense-dependent.

Fourth Rajapaksa brother joins Cabinet

Basil Rajapaksa sworn in as Finance Minister

MEERA SRINIVASAN
COLOMBO

Basil Rajapaksa, brother of President Gotabaya Rajapaksa and Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa, was on Thursday sworn in as Sri Lanka's Minister of Finance, becoming the fourth Rajapaksa brother and fifth member of the family to enter the Cabinet. The eldest of the brothers, Chamal Rajapaksa, is a Cabinet Minister, as is Nimal Rajapaksa, son of PM Mahinda Rajapaksa. Mr. Chamal Rajapaksa's son Shashendra Rajapaksa is a non-Cabinet minister.

list system, through which political parties get extra seats to Parliament based on their vote share, comes at a crucial time for the Rajapaksa administration, which is facing an unprecedented economic challenge that is compounded by the COVID-19 pandemic. His entry was also made possible by the government removing a constitutional provision barring dual citizens — Mr. Basil Rajapaksa is also an American citizen — from entering Parliament.

New portfolio

Mr. Basil Rajapaksa took charge of the Finance Ministry, helmed until now by Mr. Mahinda Rajapaksa, who was on Thursday allocated the newly-created portfolio of Economic Policies and Planning. Mr. Basil Rajapaksa, who served as a Presidential Adviser and Minister for Economic Development in the former Mahinda Rajapaksa administrations, was arrested in 2015 following allegations of corruption, but was later released on bail. In November 2020, he was acquitted in the case.

Mr. Basil Rajapaksa is credited with building the ruling Sri Lanka Podujana Peramuna (SLPP or People's Front), the new political vehicle for the Rajapaksas' return to power in 2019. As chief strategist, it was Mr. Basil Rajapaksa who crafted President Gotabaya Rajapaksa's campaign in the presidential poll of 2019 and ensured the party's landslide victory in the August 2020 general elections.

For observers in Sri Lanka, Mr. Basil Rajapaksa's entry into government is no surprise. "This was expected, it was only a matter of time," said political scientist Jayadeva Uyangoda. "He was anyway one of the major powers behind the scenes for the last two years."

The government has a "triple crisis" to manage, he said, pointing to the "economic, public health and governance crises". "If you look at the drama and media hype created around his entry, Mr. Basil Rajapaksa is projected as a saviour, a sort of miracle man. Just like they did when they put forward Mr. Gotabaya Rajapaksa as the presidential candidate," Prof. Uyangoda said. In his view, although Mr. Basil Rajapaksa has a reputation of being an "economic and political dealmaker", the current crisis defies those skills. "This crisis is so profound that it is beyond the capacity of a skilful dealmaker."

President's killing pushes Haiti into further turmoil

Interim PM Claude Joseph is now in charge

STANLY JOHNNY

Jovenel Moïse

Jovenel Moïse, Haiti's 53-year-old President, was assassinated at his private residence in Port-au-Prince early on Wednesday by unidentified gunmen, pushing the Caribbean nation, already battered by months-long protests, economic miseries and the COVID-19 outbreak, into further chaos.

What do we know?

Haiti's interim Prime Minister Claude Joseph announced on Thursday that Moïse was assassinated at his home and the First Lady, Martine Moïse, was injured. He said some of the attackers spoke Spanish, indicating that foreign mercenaries were involved. Haiti is a French- and Creole-speaking country. Mr. Joseph has not offered any more details. According to local media, Moïse's body had been riddled with 12 bullets.

Police chief Leon Charles said four suspects had been killed in a gun battle and the police were chasing others, but he has not disclosed the identity of the suspects nor has he offered any evidence linking them to the plot. It remains a mystery how the attackers, whoever they were, walked to a presidential residence, shot him dead, and then walked out freely.

Who was Jovenel Moïse?

Moïse, a former banana plantation manager who called himself "Banana Man", rose to political fame when he contested the 2016 presidential election. He came to Port-au-Prince, the capital of the Caribbean country, from the countryside and presented himself as an outsider who could fix the nation's politics and economy. Haiti, the world's first independent Black-led republic, after slaves successfully revolted against Napoleon Bonaparte's forces in 1803, has a long, painful history of foreign interventions, coups, dictatorships and not-so-successful democratic experiments. In 2010, the country was battered by a devastating earthquake that killed at least 300,000 people. Moïse promised a new beginning by strengthening institutions and ending corruption, and won the 2016 election in the first round itself. But under his administration, the political and economic situation in Haiti deteriorated further.

Why was Moïse targeted? While the motive of the assassination is not clear yet, Moïse was at the centre of a turmoil that had engulfed Haiti over the past many years. Moïse was elected President in November 2016. The presidential election was scheduled to be held in 2015, but was postponed several times amid unrest. Former President Michel Martelly, whose term expired on February 7, 2016, stepped down without a clear successor.

Who is in charge now?

According to the Haitian Constitution, the head of the Supreme Court should temporarily take over the government if the President departs abruptly. But Supreme Court President Rene Sylvestre died last month of COVID-19 and that position is still vacant. In the wake of a power vacuum, the National Assembly could select a new leader. But there is no National Assembly as elections have not been held after the last Parliament's term expired. That leaves Mr. Joseph in charge. But there's a problem — the late President had announced on Monday that he was replacing Mr. Joseph with Ariel Henry, a neurosurgeon with close ties to the Opposition. Mr. Henry was expected to take over as Prime Minister on Thursday. However, it is not clear whether the transition would happen amid the current crisis.

EXPLAINER

Moïse could not take office until February 7, 2017, as his 2016 election was marred by allegations of fraud and protests. According to Haitian Constitution (Article 134-1), "The duration of the presidential mandate is five years. This period begins and ends on February 7, following the date of elections". Opposition leaders claimed that Moïse's five-year term ended on February 7, 2021, as Mr. Martelly stepped down on February 7, 2016. But Moïse said he has one more year in office as he officially took over on February 7, 2017. This was the crux of the crisis.

As Moïse refused to step down on February 7, the Opposition called for country-wide protests. They also appointed a parallel government with Joseph Mécène Jean-Louis, a Supreme Court Judge, being the interim President. Moïse called a coup and arrested nearly two dozen Opposition leaders.

He was largely ruling by decree as his government failed to conduct legislative elections in 2019. As Haiti fell into chaos, violence by armed gangs spread across the country. Moïse promised that he would hold legislative and presidential elections within a year, but also took steps to rewrite the country's Constitution. Moïse said the post of Prime Minister, which is not an elected one, wielded enormous powers, which he wanted to clip. Opposition leaders said he was also looking for removing a clause in the Constitution that bars Presidents from seeking re-election, so that he could contest again. The political crisis was worsened by an economic contraction and the spread of COVID-19.

Mr. Joseph has already taken control of the government, declared a state of siege, put the military in charge of security and restricted media coverage of the incident. He says the authorities are in control. But most Haitians, including its leaders, are still in shock. The crisis has just started unfolding in the country.

Norway's Telenor quits Myanmar over coup

Company sells operations to MI Group

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE
OSLO

Norwegian telecoms group Telenor said on Thursday that it was selling its subsidiary in Myanmar, where it is one of the major operators, as a result of the military coup in the country.

While the agreement to sell Telenor Myanmar to MI Group for $105 million will ensure continued operations of networks, analysts expressed concern it might not bode well for freedom to use social networks.

"The situation in Myanmar has over the past months become increasingly challenging for Telenor for people security, regulatory and compliance reasons," Telenor chief executive Sivge Brekke was quoted as saying in a statement. "We have evaluated all options and believe a sale of the company is the best possible solution in this situation."

Htwe Htwe Thein, a professor of international business at Curtin University in Australia, expressed concern about the impact of the sale on data security and privacy in using social networks if the new owner is more compliant with authorities. "End of story for the people of Myanmar who are hugely reliant on social media to send the messages out, to promote their cause," she told AFP.

S. Africa's ex-President Zuma jailed after landmark ruling

He was charged with contempt of court on June 29

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE
JOHANNESBURG

Jacob Zuma on Thursday began a 15-month sentence for contempt of court, becoming post-apartheid South Africa's first President to be jailed after a drama that campaigners said ended in a victory for the rule of law.

Zuma, 79, reported to prison early on Thursday after mounting a last-ditch legal bid and stoking defiance among radical supporters who had rallied at his rural home.

South Africa's top court

on June 29 slapped Zuma with a 15-month term for refusing an order to appear before a probe into the corruption that entangled his nine years in power. As police warned that he faced arrest from midnight Wednesday, Zuma handed himself in to a jail in his home province of KwaZulu-Natal.

Many South Africans hailed his incarceration as a watershed moment.

Former corruption buster and ex-ombudswoman Thuli Madonsela hailed it as a "glorious day, in that it says that the rule of law prevails". If he had not gone to prison, "it would have sent shock waves to the system", she said.

Investigators say that under Zuma, billions of dollars in state assets were siphoned off by cronies.

Zuma had been given a deadline of Sunday night for turning himself in. Failing his surrender, police were given three days, until midnight Wednesday, to arrest him.

The United Malays National Organisation, Malaysia's biggest political party and key ally in the ruling coalition, withdrew support for Prime Minister Muhyiddin Yassin on Wednesday and called on him to resign for failing to manage the country's COVID-19 crisis.

But the country's Attorney-General said the move will not affect the position of Mr. Muhyiddin or his Cabinet, as the question of his House majority can only be determined by Parliament, not by pronouncements by party leaders.

DBS unit net profit, NPAs surge post LVB merger

Confident of long-term prospects: MD

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
MUMBAI

DBS Bank India, the wholly-owned subsidiary of Singapore's DBS Bank, witnessed a surge in FY21 net profit to ₹312 crore following its merger with the erstwhile Lakshmi Vilas Bank (LVB) but reported a huge spike in dud loans as a result of the amalgamation.

DBS Bank India, which bailed out LVB, had reported a post tax net profit of ₹111 crore in FY20.

Gross non-performing assets of the combined entity shot up to 12.9%, with a bulk of the strain coming from the erstwhile LVB's portfolio. The net NPAs stood at 2.83% with a provision coverage ratio of 84%.

The bank's MD and CEO Surojit Shome acknowledged the pain on the asset quality front and the operating losses and called it as being on 'expected lines.'

"We are confident of realising the long-term prospects of the combined franchise," Mr. Shome said.

There had been 'considerable progress' with the integration of LVB even with the dislocations due to the second wave of the pandemic, he added.

Low base helps hoist June retail vehicle sales by 22.6%

FADA says pent-up demand spurs deliveries to 12 lakh units

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI

Fuelled by pent-up demand and aided by a low base, total retail sales of vehicles rose 22.6% from a year earlier to more than 12.1 lakh units in June 2021, the Federation of Automobile Dealers Associations (FADA) said. However, registrations were still about 28% lower when compared with the pre-pandemic June 2019 figure of more than 16.98 lakh units.

On a year-on-year basis, all vehicle categories saw growth in sales last month led by commercial vehicles (CVs), which more than tripled to 35,700 units. The non-availability of BS-6 vehicles, combined with the pandemic impact, had to extremely low deliveries in June 2020. Passenger vehicle (PV) sales jumped 43.5% to about 1.84 lakh units, three-wheelers increased almost 22% to 14,732 units, two-wheeler registrations rose almost 17% to 9.3 lakh units and tractor deliveries were 14.3% higher at 52,261.

"The month of June witnessed reopening for most of the States except the ones in the South... the industry witnessed a high pent up demand," said FADA President Vinakesh Gulati. "Two-wheelers, though in green, have witnessed a softer recovery as rural market is taking time to get back from post-COVID stress," he added.

The industry was, however, still not out of the woods with tractors the only category that had posted growth over June 2019, he noted.

The auto dealers' body said it expects positive momentum to continue in July and demand to further pick up, especially as markets in southern India open up.

'Tractor sales volumes to grow 3-6%

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
NEW DELHI

Despite the impact of COVID-19 second wave, tractor sales volume is expected to grow in 2021-22 in low mid-single digits of 3-6%, mainly on a higher base following the 27% growth seen in FY21, India Ratings and Research (Ind-Ra) said.

Tractor sales volume is likely to pick up from the second quarter of the ongoing fiscal as localised lockdowns and restrictions have been relaxed, the rating agency said in a statement.

"The macroeconomic tailwinds mostly remain intact for the rural economy, including the normal monsoon forecast, the expectation of a strong Kharif harvest, and improved rural income," it said.

Mercedes-Benz India H1 retail sales jumps 65%

Expecting 'bigger' H2, says official

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
NEW DELHI

German luxury carmaker Mercedes-Benz on Thursday reported a 65% growth in its retail sales in India to 4,857 units in the first half (H1) of 2021 driven by new products and strong demand for top-end cars.

The company had sold 2,948 units in the first half of 2020. In the first halves of both last and this year, sales were disrupted due to restrictions imposed to curb the first and second waves of the coronavirus pandemic.

"Our H1 2021 sales growth is in line with the market sentiments and strongly underlines a continuing high customer demand for models," Mercedes-Benz India managing director and CEO Martin Schwenk said in a statement. "We have built a solid order bank on the back of new launches and it is highly satisfying to witness an all-round rise in demand for our products."

On the outlook, VP sales and marketing Santosh Iyer said, "At this stage, at least on the demand side, we don't see any letdown as we move into this quarter also. Fundamentally, the H2 surely should be bigger than H1."

'Make non-permanent staff eligible for shares'

Ease sweat-equity norms: SEBI panel

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
NEW DELHI

An expert group constituted by SEBI has recommended that non-permanent staffers should be considered eligible to receive share-based employee benefits.

In addition, it has suggested relaxations with respect to the quantum of sweat equity shares that can be issued by new-age companies listed on the Innovators Growth Platform, according to a consultation paper issued by SEBI.

The group has made several policy recommendations in its report, including combining both sweat equity and SBEB (share-based employee benefits) regulations.

In addition, the panel considered various practical issues in relation to implementation of employee stock purchase schemes through a trust.

It recommended that non-permanent employees may also be considered for eligibility to receive share-based employee benefits. Accordingly, 'employees,' as defined by firms, should be eligible under the SBEB regulations, as opposed to earlier position of only 'permanent employees.'

Barty's craft and Pliskova's power light up semifinal day

Top-seeded Aussie ruthlessly ends Kerber's best Slam run since the 2018 edition while the Czech outguns Sabalenka in a battle of big servers

WIMBLEDON

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE
LONDON
Ashleigh Barty is one victory away from realising her dream of winning the Wimbledon title on the 50th anniversary of fellow indigenous Australian Evonne Goolagong Cawley's first triumph.

The 25-year-old World No. 1 produced her best performance of The Championships so far to beat 2018 champion Angelique Kerber 6-3, 7-6(3). Barty will play former World No. 1 Karolina Pliskova of the Czech Republic in Saturday's final.

Eighth-seeded Pliskova reached her second Grand Slam final after rallying to beat No. 2 Aryna Sabalenka in three sets. In a match-up of two big servers playing in their first Wimbledon semifinal, Pliskova won 5-7, 6-4, 6-4. Sabalenka saved all eight break points she faced in the first set – including four at 5-5 – and then converted her first when Pliskova double-faulted on set point.

Taking control

But Pliskova finally broke for a 3-2 lead in the second set and again in the opening game of the third to take control.

Pliskova had not dropped a set in the tournament going into the match. She was the US Open runner-up in 2016.

Barty had never progressed further than the fourth round at Wimbledon despite being good on grass; she was the junior champion in 2011.

However, she took the first set with just the one break of serve and then showed real

The highlights

- 2 - Second Major final for Pliskova after 2016 US Open
- 8 - Sabalenka saved all eight break points in the first set, but lost the only two in sets 2 and 3 determination to turn around a 1-4 deficit and force the tie-break where she had six match points.

Kerber saved three, but it was only delaying the inevitable and soon it was Barty who raised her arms in celebration and placed her racket over her head as the moment sank in.

"It's incredible, it was as close to as good a tennis match that I have ever played," said Barty, who came up with 38 winners, in-

England shatters Danish dreams, reaches first major final after 1966

Damsgaard's superbly taken free-kick not enough for the visitors as an own goal and Kane's strike do the trick for the Three Lions

EURO 2020

REUTERS
LONDON
England finally has the chance to add another trophy to the 1966 World Cup after it overcame Denmark 2-1 in extra-time on Wednesday to reach the European Championship final for the first time.

Harry Kane's goal, following up after his penalty had been saved, finally saw off a battling Denmark to set up a Sunday showdown against Italy.

England fell behind to Mikkel Damsgaard's superb free kick, equalised with an own goal, dominated the game and then won it via its captain, albeit somewhat unconvincingly, in the 104th minute.

It was a tough way for Denmark to end its emotional ride from the fear and disstress of Christian Eriksen's opening game collapse.

The quality in the Danish ranks was amply illustrated after 30 minutes when Damsgaard fired a powerful, dipping 25-yard free-kick over the wall and beyond the diving Jordan Pickford.

England's answer was calm and patient, as it passed its way back into ascendancy. Raheem Sterling was denied at point-blank range by Kasper Schmeichel before the 39th-minute equaliser, when Bukayo Saka hit the byline and fizzed over a low cross that Simon Kjær bundled over his own line in his attempt to stop the ball reaching Sterling.

Turning the screw

Schmeichel was on hand again with an excellent diving save to palm away a Harry Maguire header and England began to turn the screw.

The ever-dangerous Sterling continued to drive into the box though and was eventually brought down by Joakim Maehle for the VAR-reviewed penalty that Kane struck poorly and Schmeichel blocked, only for the captain to tuck home the rebound.

The result: Semifinal: England 2 (Kjaer 39-og, Kane 104) bt Denmark 1 (Damsgaard 30) (aet, 1-1 after 90 minutes).

By The Numbers

9 Sterling's completed dribbles against Denmark, the most by any player in a single match in this edition

691 Denmark's goal was the first scored against England since March, ending a run of 691 minutes without conceding

UEFA said it was also investigating England over fans' lighting of fireworks and disrupting the national anthem.

India and England clash in T20Is

Pressure on Harmanpreet to engineer batting turnaround

INDIA IN ENGLAND

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
NORTHAMPTON
India skipper Harmanpreet Kaur will be aiming to overcome her prolonged form slump and boost the struggling batting line-up in the opening T20 International against England here on Friday.

Stars on the sidelines

Barring Mithali Raj's remarkable consistency in ODIs, the Indian batting was a disappointment and it is something the team would want to correct in the three T20s.

in ODIs – Mithali and Jhulan Goswami – will, however, be watching the action from the sidelines.

Harmanpreet, who has not scored a fifty in the shortest format since November 2018, will have to lead from the front. Both openers – Shafali Verma and Smriti Mandhana – are in good touch but the team expects more consistency from them, especially the vice-captain. The standout performer of the tour – Sneha Rana – is set to play her first T20 since February 2016.

Richa Ghosh, another 17-year-old in the team alongside Shafali, is also likely to feature in the playing eleven having done well in the home

India has the momentum, says Harmanpreet

P.K. AJITH KUMAR

Harmanpreet Kaur believes India has the momentum going into the Twenty 20 series against England, starting at Northampton on Friday.

Confident

The captain said the players were in a confident frame of mind after victory in the last One-Day International at Worcester. However, that win came after India had conceded the series, having lost the first two matches.

"The way we bowled and fielded in the second ODI was outstanding," Harmanpreet said.

"Things are not easy when you are playing international cricket after a long gap.

"The win in the last match is very important and we hope to carry forward the momentum," she said.

About her own poor form, Harmanpreet said lack of preparation and COVID-19 infection had impacted her batting.

"I am someone who likes to work every day," she said. "In international cricket, you just cannot come in (after a break) and hope to get things (right straightaway). After five innings (on this tour), I know the areas that I have to work on."

Pat for Sneha

About Sneha Rana, a revelation on the tour, she said the spinning all-rounder brought balance to the team.

"We need players like her who can contribute with both bat and ball," the skipper said.

'You'll see a more confident Yuzi this series'

AMOL KARHADKAR

Ever since India's semifinal exit from the 2019 World Cup, Yuzvendra Chahal appears to have lost his status as India's No. 1 spinner in ODIs.

Now the leggie is looking forward to putting up an impressive performance in the limited-overs series against Sri Lanka starting next week.

"I am playing an ODI series after a long time but the two practice matches have helped getting used to it. The early morning dew followed by the heat has been testing and it'll be a completely different experience as a T20 game which lasts only three or three and a half hours," Chahal said from Colombo on Thursday in a virtual function to launch the T20I and the ODI series.

Chahal has featured in just five of the 18 ODIs India has played since the World Cup. But the crafty spinner oozed confidence about his abilities in a series in which he is set to be India's most experienced spinner.

"I am focusing on a couple of variations that I have rather than developing a new delivery. You'll see a more confident Yuzi in this series. I have been working on my angles," he said.

to perform here, then the IPL and the World Cup, so I am focused on it."

Fruitful conversation

The series will begin with the ODI series from July 13 and Chahal said he has had fruitful discussions with head coach Rahul Dravid.

"I have worked with Rahul sir during a couple of India-A series. He has always guided me, especially with my bowling. I always talk to him even about other stuff as well," he said. "He has told me you're here as a senior spinner and I want you to be more focused and guide youngsters."

Olympics to be held without spectators

Decision renders it a made-for-TV event

TOKYO

Fans have been banned from the pandemic-postponed Tokyo Olympics which will open in two weeks, following the announcement of a state of emergency on Thursday, Olympic Minister Tamayo Marukawa told Japanese news agency Kyodo.

The ban was announced by the International Olympic Committee and Japanese organisers, reducing the games to a made-for-TV event. The no-fan atmosphere will include the opening ceremony at the $1.4 billion National Stadium, which is traditionally the most watched event during the Olympics. It's unclear how the Olympic Torch will enter the stadium for the opening ceremony.

Rude welcome

The emergency declaration made for a rude arrival in Japan for IOC president Thomas Bach, who landed in Tokyo on Thursday just hours before the new measures were announced. He was to spend three days in self-isolation at the hotel that lodges IOC members.

The Japanese Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga said

the state of emergency would go into effect on Monday and last through Aug. 22. This means the Olympics, opening on July 23 and running through Aug. 8, will be held entirely under emergency measures. The Paralympics open on Aug. 24.

About 11,000 Olympians and 4,400 Paralympians are expected to enter Japan, with tens of thousands of officials, judges, administrators, sponsors, broadcasters, and media also entering. The IOC says more than 80% of the residents of the Olympic Village will be vaccinated.

I am going to take a game at a time," he said.

card entrant, opens his campaign against Paulo Bersamina (Philippines). A win will earn Praggnanandhaa a clash against the experienced Armenian Gabriel Sargissian.

"I played against Paulo some six years ago," revealed the youngster and said, "I have also seen a few games of Sargissian since there will not be much time between two rounds.

Sharpening his game

Praggnanandhaa also mentioned how his recent performances in the Meltwaters Champions Chess Tour and the Challengers Tour has helped him sharpen his game.

"I've played pretty aggressively in recent times (in the online events) and I am happy with the results. Since I have played a lot online, it has helped my confidence," said Praggnanandhaa.

Talking about his impressive showing in the New in Chess Classic, where he beat Sergey Karjakin and drew with Magnus Carlsen, Hikaru Nakamura and Alireza Firouzja, he said, "I am slowly learning to play the position and not get influenced by the reputation of my rivals."

Looking ahead, Praggnanandhaa has three events lined up.

"I received the invitation to play in the Masters section of the Biel International Chess Festival (July 26-August 4).

"I am scheduled to play in the Riga Technical University Open (August 9-15) and Group 'A' of the Ciutat de Barcelona (August 18-26)."

Former India goalkeeper Alloysius Edwards feels that the Manpreet Singh-led Indian hockey team in next month's Tokyo Olympics is the best and the fittest ever to compete in recent memory and has a very good chance of making it to the last-four stage.

"This Indian team has class and I am pretty confident that the first-time Olympians should all be excited to give their best," 52-year-old Edwards said in a chat with The Hindu.

"This team is capable of beating the best and fitness is the key, unlike in the past. Maintaining such high levels despite the pandemic is a tribute to their hard work and determination," said the former India captain.

Taking pride

He takes pride in revealing that it was he as junior national selector who insisted that goalkeeper P.R. Sreejesh be given exposure in 2004 itself though the top brass in the IHF was not keen. "But, I stood my ground and am glad that Sreejesh is the best goalkeeper now," Edwards said.

"Honestly, picking Sreejesh as the only goalkeeper in the squad might be too harsh on him. There will be pressure on him to play safe to avoid injuries. It will be interesting to see whether he can display his robust style of goalkeeping," he said.

"I also feel good to see midfielder Hardik Singh in the Olympics squad as I encouraged him also a lot as junior national selector," he said.

Reflecting on his Olympics experience, Edwards recalled that he was in the Olympics camp twice – in 1988 after I won the 'best goalkeeper' award in the Bombay Gold Cup and again in 1992 – before making the cut for the 1996 Atlanta Games.

High and low

"Oh! If the Atlanta Olympics was truly memorable being my first Games and basking in the aura, then the 2002 Sydney Games was the low in my career for no fault of mine," he said.

"I attended the one-month camp in Brisbane before the Sydney Games. I even went to the Games Village, got the kit, the jersey, the blazer and wanted to give my best. But, then came the shock of my life that I was replaced," Edwards said.

"I was told that I could stay back but I was shattered. I couldn't stay there and flew back," he concluded.

Emiliano Martinez needed only a month to establish himself as Argentina's number one goalkeeper and on Tuesday he became a new national hero by saving three times in a shootout in its Copa America semifinal against Colombia.

The Aston Villa keeper's exploits in the shootout moved Argentina into a mouthwatering Copa America final against host and reigning champion Brazil.

Lionel Messi, so often the key man for Argentina, paid tribute to Martinez.

"It was difficult at times," he said. "But we have 'Emi' and he's phenomenal. We trusted him. We've fulfilled our objective of coming here to play every game and now we're going to the final."

Martinez had little to do over the 90 minutes but was superb in the shootout, diving at full stretch to save from Davinson Sanchez, Yerri Mina and Edwin Cardona. He also earned a rebuke from the referee for his non-stop cheeky chat aimed at Colombia's players as they lined up to take their kicks.

The 28-year-old, who had spells with Arsenal, Wolves, Reading, Sheffield Wednesday and Rotherham, only made his international debut on June 3 in a World Cup qualifier against Chile.

He was injured in Argentina's next match against Colombia and taken off when it was leading 2-0.

The game ended 2-2 and Martinez was thrown right back into the fray for the next game.

Since then he has impressed in what has been a problem position for coach Lionel Scaloni, conceding just three times in six games.

Martinez, who may not even have started at the Copa America had River Plate keeper Franco Armani not tested positive for COVID-19, said there was no stopping Argentina now.

"We've spent 40 days locked away, not seeing anyone outside our bubble," he said after Tuesday's victory.
